Osmond wins tight race

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

The race for Antioch Township supervisor came down to the wire with voters choosing an established trustee in favor of a township activist.

Tim Osmond collected 1,564 votes and 53 percent of the vote while Carolyn Jonites received 1,406 votes and 47 percent of the vote.

"I thought if the turnout was low it would be a close election," Osmond said.

Jonites received more votes in the village precincts than expected, but less in the unincorporated areas, where she expected to be strong.

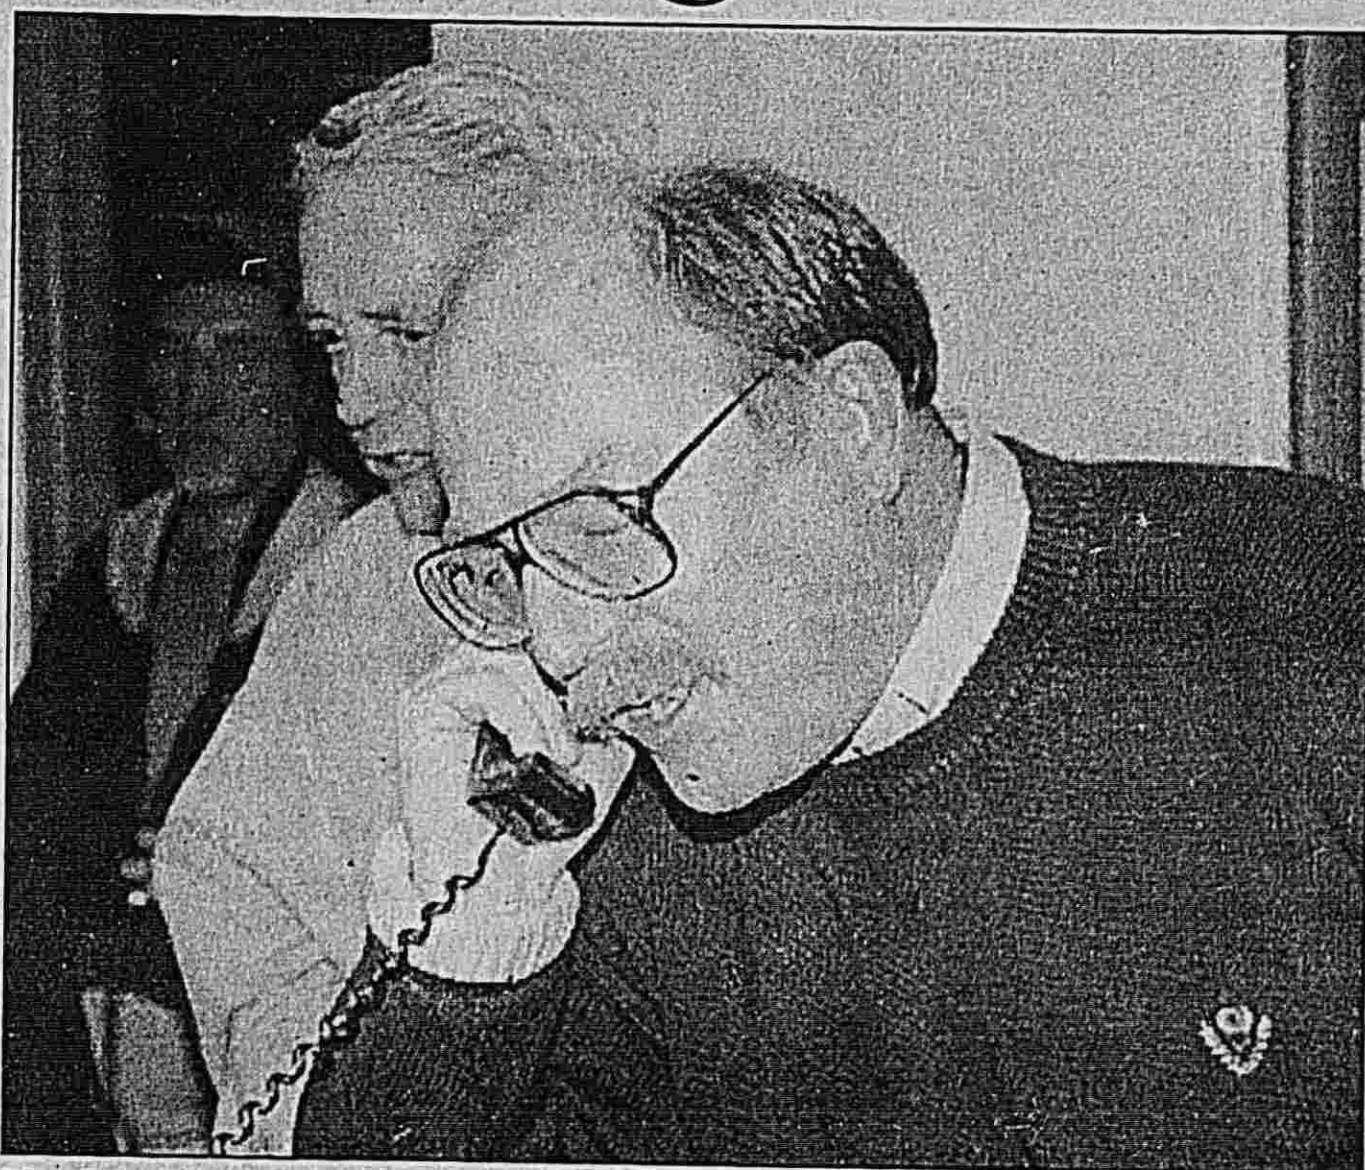

"I was surprised I did as well as I did in the village," Jonites said. "I can't believe I lost the township."

Osmond said he felt if the turnout was larger he would have fared even better. He felt one of his keys to victory was his name recognition.

"People know me from business and from the community involvement and I think that gave me an edge," Osmond, who is also chief of the Antioch Rescue Squad, said.

Jonites believed she was hurt by the low voter turnout.

"It's really disappointing. People had a chance to get out and make a change and they decided they wanted more of nothing," See OSMOND page A10

An Antioch Community High School student will be going to Washington for efforts to curb student drinking.

Deanne Dalgard of Antioch was nominated by school officials as a delegate for the Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) National Youth Summit to be held May 10-12. She was selected based on her involvement and leadership in Sigma Alpha Delta, an organization under the

Dalgard

Student Assistant Program which promotes a lifestyle free from drug and alcohol use.

"I hope I get a chance to speak at Capitol Hill," Dalgard said.

Some lucky few candidates will have the opportunity to address Congress.

Dalgard is the president of the Sigma Alpha Delta and also is a member of Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) and a member of Athletes Committed to Excellence. See TRIP page A10

Town trustees expect to work well together

ALEC JUNG

The Antioch Township trustee election wasn't close as the top four vote getters easily outdistanced their rivals.

Four seats were up for election. Incumbents Judy Davis and Claudette Skvarce gained reelection with newcomers Wanda Schaefer and Steve Smouse joining them.

"I was pleasantly surprised," Smouse said after receiving the most votes. "I thought I would get elected because of how long I have been in the area."

"I am thrilled with the voters and I thank them," Skvarce said. The last time I ran I was fourth and I had 300 votes less than Judy Davis."

The final tally shows Smouse with 1,831 votes, Skvarce with 1,823 votes, Davis with 1,793 votes, Schaefer with 1,668 votes, followed by Ardeen Harris with 1,398 votes and Roy Sackschewsky 1,361 votes.

Smouse was on the Antioch Plan Commission for 12 years and works at Roger Sorensen Insurance Agency.

"It helps you see things from start to finish," Smouse said of how he thinks his plan commission experience will help him as a trustee.

Skvarce added she thinks the new board should work well together.

Kufalk-Marotta cruises to victory as assessor

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Township assessor race was a blowout.

Assistant Assessor Heather Kufalk-Marotta easily outdistanced Mike Mueller for the assessor race. Kufalk-Marotta garnered 1,916 votes to 984 for Mueller.

"I am excited. I am overwhelmed," Kufalk-Marotta said.

She felt she had the most experience within the township which she thought made a big difference to voters.

"I know what it's like to work in the office. He didn't have an office," Kufalk-Marotta said.

She added she will be a full-time assessor and be accessible to the public.

"People seem to appreciate it more if they hear it directly from the assessor," Kufalk-Marotta said.

Some of her goals is providing more information to residents. She feels a newsletter from the assessor would be a big help.

She complemented Mueller for keeping to the issues and running a clean campaign.

Mueller was a deputy assessor as well.

"I knew I had the most experience and I hoped voters would recognize that," Kufalk-Marotta said.

Kufalk-Marotta will take office in January 1998.

In other races Kahleen Smith will be the new township clerk and Mark Ring was elected as highway commissioner. They were both unopposed.

St. Peter enrollment jump necessitates mobile units

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

St. Peter School in Antioch is continuing to grow as mobile classrooms were needed to accommodate burgeoning enrollment.

The school now has 276 students. That number is expected to increase next year as the lower grade attendance continues to swell.

"We are growing the bottom up," said Principal Pat Dieveney.

The school has 61 kindergartners and has three sections.

Next year, there will be two first-grade classrooms for the first time, according to Dieveney.

The mobile classrooms house the sixth, seventh and eighth-grade classes. The sixth grade is in its own mobile unit while the seventh and eighth grade students are in a double-unit with a divider.

The classroom size in the three grades averages between 20-21 students, according to Dieveney.

The continuing enrollment jump is having school officials at least thinking about building expansion.

"It would depend on the timing if it could be done," Dieveney said.

Since the school year has started, the attendance has remained at a fairly consistent rate, according to Dieveney.

Sewer committee prepares fact sheet, aims to dispel rumors

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

A committee of residents who are pursuing the possibility of sewers in Unincorporated Antioch Township is preparing a fact sheet they hope will answer questions and dispel rumors about this issue.

The committee is comprised of members from United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA). The committee has met four times and already has developed a mission statement.

"Our mission is to gather and disseminate information to inform and educate township residents with regards to the Antioch Township Sewer Study, towards the implementation of sewers for the entire population of unincorporated Antioch Township," the mission statement reads.

"We want to educate and inform the people," Liniewicz said.

The committee is working to finalize a fact sheet of pros and cons related to sewer service at their next meeting in a week, according to Liniewicz.

"We want to make sure the people understand everything," Liniewicz said.

The committee was created two months ago after UHAUA officials decided to consider a petition drive for sewer service.

The committee is basing its cost estimates on a county feasibility study done in 1995. The study has two cost estimates, UHAUA is using the lowest estimate at $11,255 to hook on to sewers.

The study encompassed all unincorporated Antioch Township areas without sewer service. The survey projected the cost based on 5,200 residences.

Once the fact sheet is complete, it will be released to the public.

Friends need a few good books

Antioch Library Friends are looking for used books. They need old books, new books, paperback and hard cover. If you are starting your spring cleaning and have books or other materials you would like to donate to a worthwhile cause, please consider donating them to the library. Suitable items include: books, videotapes, audio books, tapes or CD's and computer CD-ROMs. Bring in all donations to the library's front desk.

Library to upgrade computer system

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Library Board is continuing its computer upgrades by approving a $28,000 hardware purchase.

This is the first part of the purchase which will eventually switch the computer catalogues and the circulation desk computers from DOS to windows, according to Kathy LaBuda, library director.

"We spread the cost to two fiscal years so we won't have to raise taxes," LaBuda said.

The first step is buying Pentium computers which are faster and have more memory to replace existing 386 models.

The computers have been ordered and are expected to arrive at the end of April.

Library officials will log the new computers on the existing DOS network until windows packages can be purchased.

Library officials hope to have the whole system installed and running by the end of October.

The upgrades coincide with the introduction of the Internet to increase the library's technological capabilities.

LaBuda added the company which services the existing network is switching to the windows system and the library would be out of maintenance agreement if the system wasn't upgraded.

Ameritech wants phone lines at Painted Lakes

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Lake Villa officials aren't taking a proposal for an optic fiber facility too kindly.

Mayor Frank Loffredo questioned the benefit of allowing Ameritech to install a facility for fiber optic phone lines in the Painted Lakes subdivision on Grass Lake Road. He did not approve of the proposed location.

"It is our open space," Loffredo said. "Why should we put something where there should be open space?"

Loffredo questioned if there was such a great benefit to having these lines.

"I'm not sure what the benefit is. People already have phone and cable service," he said.

Kevin Cornell, village engineer, explained the company would rather install lines in an area where it is unlikely village utility lines would ever go in. He said the company wants to avoid the cost of moving utility lines if necessary in the future.

John Mullen, village attorney, explained the village has the first and foremost rights to any easements regarding utilities. If the village needs a particular area, other utilities such as electric, phone and cable must move their lines.

The board agreed to have an Ameritech representative come to a meeting to justify why the facilities are needed.

The board also will question the company on some lines village officials want moved in the older sections of the village.

Antioch High School cheerleader makes All State-All Star Squad

Cheerleading today requires more than yelling at sporting events. It incorporates dance and gymnastics, jumps, kicks, and stunts, as well as cheering. And Laura Deutsch, senior cheerleader and one of the team captains at Antioch Community High School, has proven that she is one of the best in the area at cheering — she has been named as a member of the All State-All Star (North) Squad.

Laura, who is involved with Student Council, National Honor Society, and other school and community activities, has been on the high honor roll for four years. During her three years as a varsity cheerleader, Laura has also been named an All-American Cheerleader, a UCA All Star Cheerleader and has won an ICCA cheerleading scholarship.

Laura was a key person in creating the ACHS Varsity squad's competition routine this year. That routine led them to first place finishes at the Libertyville and Stevenson competitions and a trip to the State Cheerleading competition, where they came in 21st. Laura will be attending Northern Illinois University next year, where she has already been selected as a member of their cheerleading squad.

Boy Scouts make picnic tables to raise money

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Boy Scout Troop 188 will again do a unique fund-raiser which many people can appreciate.

The troop, comprised of boys from Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst, for the second year, will be making picnic benches and selling them.

Last year the troop cleared $500, but this year they hope to do much better.

"We hope to do substantially better than last year," said Randy Barnhardt, scout master.

He added the fund-raiser really came about accidentally.

"I had made some picnic benches for our own use," Barnhardt recalled.

"Some of the wives friends said they could use one of those."

There will be at least nine scouts working in teams of three to assemble the benches from beginning to end. One adult will be with each team.

The troop will be at Home Depot in Gurnee Saturday, April 5 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Home Depot has graciously donated the supplies and materials.

The picnic tables cost $150.

The troop is co-sponsored by Lake Villa United Methodist Church and Prince of Peace Church.

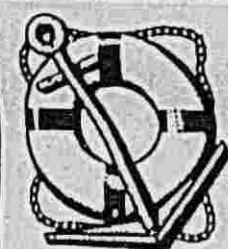

Carmel holds sports camps

Carmel High School will come alive again this summer with a variety of sport camp opportunities for students in grades three through 12. Registration for the following camps is now being accepted: boy's baseball, grades third through ninth; girl's softball, grades fifth through 12; boy's and girl's basketball, grades fifth through 12; football, grades sixth through 12; boy's and girl's soccer, grades fourth through 12; girl's and boy's volleyball, grades sixth through 12; boy's wrestling, grades fifth through 12; boy's and girl's hockey, grades eighth through 12; boy's and girl's running, grades seventh through 12.

Two new camps will be available this year: boy's and girl's tennis, grades 6 through 12 and cheerleading, grades 5th through eighth.

Anyone interested in registering by phone may do so by contacting Andy Bitto, athletic director, Carmel High School at 566-3000 ext. 328. Spots will be filled on a first come first serve basis. Those who mail the registration fee before April 15 will receive a $5 discount on each camp for which they register. An in-house registration will take place at Carmel in the Hesse Center on Saturday, April 19 and Saturday May 17 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Fire thwarts late night snack

ALEC JUNG

Taco Bell may be known for its hot food. Unfortunately, it became a hot building last weekend, which required immediate attention.

A small fire started in the building near the drive thru window, March 29, 11:44 p.m. at the Antioch Taco Bell, according to Antioch Fire Department Chief Dennis Volling.

"When we arrived there was smoke coming out on the side of the building," Volling said.

Firefighters quickly put out the fire before it could spread.

There was a small hole between the building and the drive thru window where a cigarette likely fell into the hole and the flames were fanned by the wind, according to Volling.

The damage was minimal.

Volling estimates it was about $200 to $300.

Firefighters were alerted to the blaze when the fire alarm went off. The manager also noticed the smoke and called the fire department.

The restaurant had to be closed to clean up from the mess. It was later opened once it passed a health department inspection.

No one was injured in the fire.

Gurnee police fight leads to lawsuit

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

A Gurnee police officer has filed a lawsuit seeking $400,000 in damages against another police officer.

Donald Rager is suing fellow officer Thomas Agos and the Village of Gurnee for damages suffered during an altercation with Agos on Feb. 11. The suit was filed on March 26.

Rager suffered neck and facial wounds after the altercation allegedly led to blows from Agos. Rager is seeking a jury trial in front of Lake County Circuit Court Judge Bernard Drew. The Village of Gurnee and Police Chief Robert Jones were named as co-defendants.

"We are seeking $100,000 in compensatory damages and $300,000 in punitive damages to make sure this does not happen again," Donald Mauro, attorney representing Rager, said.

Both were in the police station at the time of the altercation, but it is not known if both were on shift.

Mauro said another issue was supervision of Agos, despite Agos having a violent history.

"An altercation occurred on Feb. 11 involving two police officers at work which involved inappropriate conduct. Both have been disciplined," Gurnee Police Chief Jones said in a brief statement. Due to pending litigation, Jones is not commenting further.

The lawsuit contends Agos with "manipulation of police procedures, had violent tendencies and outbursts on and off the force," it states.

Jones allegedly "instructed subordinate officers to alter or delete and/or amend investigative reports to eliminate references, versions or citations which were illustrative of coercive tactics," the suit states.

"Our goal is to seek a swift decision, within the calendar year," Mauro said.

The matter is in the hands of the village's insurer.

Sheriff warns of phone scam

Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re announces hearing of an increase in phone solicitors calling Lake County residents representing themselves as Lake County Sheriff's DARE program people and requesting cash donations. Although most of the callers are from the North Shore area; some have been reported in the Ingleside and Western Lake County communities.

Sheriff Del Re says the Sheriff's Dept. does not engage in phone solicitation activities. These individuals who are calling do not represent the Sheriff or the Sheriff's Dept. and any requests for money are not on behalf of the Sheriff or the Lake County Sheriff's office.

Sheriff Del Re would like to point out that phone solicitors frequently target upscale communities and especially victimize the elderly. If you find yourself on the phone with someone soliciting for money, don't feel obligated to donate unless you are satisfied that the cause is legitimate and just, and know that your Sheriff's Dept. does not raise money by phone soliciting.

The Illinois Attorney General's Office may investigate complaints of this nature and they can be contacted by calling their Consumer Fraud hotline at either 1 (800) 252-8666 or 1 (800) 386-5436 (24 hours).

The Churches in town need a little support

St. Ignatius Church here in Antioch needs a little help in fulfilling a big goal. They are currently located in downtown Antioch and for any of you that have been in town at noon, once the siren stops bellowing, this is the church that has the bells playing that little tune. Well, they have definitely outgrown their home. They have purchased land out on Deep Lake Road to build a new church and now they are working on raising money to construct the new building.

So, on May 31 they are holding a Bike-a-Thon to begin accumulating funds to turn their dream into a reality. Everyone is welcome to participate, members and non-members alike. The event will take place at the Antioch Community High School track and field. You can either ride a bike, big wheel or tricycle, around the track to meet your goal or you can jog, run, rollerblade or walk. You need set a goal for yourself as to how many laps around the track you intend to complete. Then you need to acquire sponsors who will pledge so much a lap, whether it be 10 cents or $10, or they can pledge just one flat rate like $25, regardless of how many laps you complete. Be sure and tell your sponsors this is a non-profit, tax-deductible donation and forms will be available for this purpose. Now, the folks running the show figured they needed some incentives to get the townsfolk out there to help them raise some much needed funds, so they will have prizes galore to give away. Some of the different categories, broken down by ages, will be: most pledges, most laps, as well as family prizes.

They will be having a DJ sporting some tunes and the concession stands will be opened to satisfy those food, drink and candy bar cravings you might work up during your workout. For more information or to pick-up the registration forms call Arlene at 395-3324 and she will be more than happy to answer any of your questions.

Also, anyone out there who might like to donate a prize or money to purchase prizes, well that would be really appreciated too—give Arlene a call. So gather a bunch of your friends together, shine those bikes, oil those skates, stretch those leg muscles and help St. Ignatius build up their building fund. And, hopefully they will get really loud bells, so we can still hear them at noon time.

Auctioneer's Nite

St. Peter's in Antioch will be hosting their Annual Auctioneer's Nite on Saturday, April 5. The evening promises to be entertaining. Some of the items that will be put up for bid are: tickets professional sporting events, Longenberger basket products, mystery dinners, nights out on the town, pet sitting services, sports equipment, household items and oodles of other refined articles.

If you wish to partake of the dinner catered by Maravella's, a mere $9 will buy you a scrumptious meal, otherwise just drop on in and experience the excitement when the bidding wars begin. All proceeds will directly benefit St. Peter's.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

New Star Discovery holds most beautiful baby contest

New Star Discovery is holding a regional Most Beautiful Baby Contest in the Belvidere Mall on April 13 for babies of all ages.

There are six age divisions including: 0-7 months; 8-14 months; 15-23 months; 3-4 year olds; 5 to 6 year olds. Boys and girls will be accepted. The boys do not compete against the girls in the age divisions.

The winner of each age division will win a beautiful trophy, a crown, their entry fee paid on to the state contest and a test photo shoot with a high profile fashion photographer, which is valued at $150. The first four runners-up in each age division will receive a beautiful trophy and their entry paid on to the state contest. Every contestant that enters does win a beautiful trophy or a $50 savings bond.

The "Most Beautiful Baby Contest" in Waukegan is a regional contest for children from the surrounding area. From the regional, it is possible to continue on to the state contest. From there, it's on to the Nationals, to possibly win a $10,000 savings bond.

Anyone interested in entering their child in the New Star Discovery Most Beautiful Baby Contest, call (815) 227-1070.

Cigars have royal history

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Cigars have undergone a rapid revival in the last two years.

With that in mind, Matt Swiatek, owner of Puff N Stuff in Mundelein, was invited to speak to Antioch Rotary Club. Swiatek presented a brief history and an explanation of current popularity of this blend of tobacco leaves.

"They started during Medieval times," Swiatek said. "The kings would smoke a cigar after a large feast. They gave the cigarettes to the peasants."

He added the height of cigar popularity was in the late 1960s and early 1970s. At that time cigar sales totaled $8 billion. Now the sales are up to around $6 billion a year.

Simply put, the leaves make the cigar. Typically, the longer they are cured, the higher the quality.

Some leaves are stored as long as 20 years by the cigar companies. They command a premium price.

A box of cured cigars more than five years old can start at $500 and go as high as $1,200.

One of problems with the cigars is that the leaves take so long to grow because they are so labor intensive.

"Everything has to be done by hand. It takes 120 days before they are ready to pick," Swiatek said.

He noted it takes another 90 days to cure. Even the best farmers only produce about 80 to 100 boxes a day.

This time delay has caused problems with supply. There often isn't enough supply for many of the premium brands.

Swiatek usually keeps about three or four backup choices in case supply isn't available for a particular brand.

Besides cigars, there is a burgeoning industry of related items designed to enhance the smoking experience.

Swiatek mentioned the cigar saver. This is a device which allows the cigar to keep its freshness by sealing it. Other items include improved humidors which keep the humidity up to preserve the cigar leaves.

Cigars take a long time to smoke. It can take anywhere from 20 minutes to 2 hours depending on the type.

More and more celebrities are smoking cigars, said Swiatek. Two well known smokers include Michael Jordan and Mike Ditka.

Swiatek concluded by stating he is not sure where the market will go. Last year alone, sales jumped 70 percent.

Park Happenings Spring programs are starting

The Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept. has a number of Spring Programs available. Anyone interested in registering for one or more of these programs, sign up at the Parks Office at 874 Main St. or call 395-2160 for more details.

Nature symposium to feature biologist Dr. Peter Raven

Abbott Laboratories and the Friends of Ryerson Woods have teamed up to sponsor the 14th Annual Smith Symposium, a series of nature lectures and workshops at the Lake County Forest Preserves' Ryerson Conservation Area near Deerfield. Held on Sundays May 4, May 11 and May 18, registration is now open for this year's Symposium.

Dr. Peter Raven, director of the Missouri Botanical Garden, tops an impressive list of offerings in the series. Raven will explain biodiversity and its implications for all species at the keynote presentation on Sunday, May 4, at 1:30 p.m.

The concept of biodiversity is simple: a thriving ecosystem equals a large variety of plants and animals. The reality of achieving biodiversity is complex and Raven will address how and why we should help.

"We have an obligation to our planet" says Raven. "We're operating in a completely non-sustainable way—and we have to reverse it. What we do in our personal lives is very important."

Under Raven's leadership, the Missouri Botanical Garden's research program in tropical botany has become one of the most active in the world and has enhanced public awareness of the ecological crisis in the tropics.

A native of California, Raven is also the Engelmann Professor of Botany at Washington University. He received his PhD from the University of California, Los Angeles in 1960 and holds honorary degrees from several universities. Dr. Raven is Home Secretary of the National Academy of Sciences, Chairman of the Report Review Committee of the National Research Council and a member of the President's Committee of Advisors on Science and Technology.

Dr. Raven has won numerous prestigious prizes for his work in biology and environmental achievement. He has authored and edited 18 books, including textbooks in biology and botany, and more than 450 scientific papers.

Themed, "A World of Variety," this year's Symposium features a full spectrum of workshop topics include "Saving Our Endangered Species," "Birding Basics," "The Joy of Nature Writing," "Photographing Nature," "Warbler Fever," and much more. Symposium participants can also attend "free" early morning bird walk at 7:30 a.m., as well as mid-morning nature workshops for a fee of $5, ($3 for Friends of Ryerson Woods members.)

The fee for the Sunday, May 4, keynote presentation is $6, ($4.50 for Friends of Ryerson Woods members). Space is limited and reservations for all walks, workshops, and the keynote presentation.

The Smith Symposium is organized by the Friends of Ryerson Woods, a non-profit citizens group working in support of Ryerson Woods. The Symposium is named in memory of conservationists, Ellen and Dutch Smith, who supported the Lake County Forest Preserves' efforts to preserve and protect Ryerson Woods.

Ryerson Woods is located on Riverwoods Rd., just south of Route 22 and west of the I-94 Tollway near Deerfield. For more information, to make a reservation, or to obtain a Smith Symposium registration form, call 948-7750.

Historical Society to elect new officers

The Lakes Region Historical Society has been busy with remodeling and will hold an election of officers.

The society is beginning to remodel the basement area. The walls have been waterproofed. They will be creating a room within a room. The framework has been established.

The officer elections are being planned for the April 24 meeting at 7:30 p.m.

If no other nominations are presented, the previous officers will retain their posts.

Current officers are: Bob Lindblad, president; Earl Beese, vice president; Barbara Beese, recording secretary; Al Little, corresponding secretary; Ted Sokulski, treasurer; Ainsley Wonderling, museum director.

Trustees are: Art Doty, Marlene Coia, Nancy Binder and Robin Kessell.

The society had a booth at the Lakes Area Showcase March 22 and 23 at Antioch Community High School.

In a related issue, the Antioch Downtown History Committee is meeting April 15, 7 p.m. at the community room, 884 Main Street, to discuss further information gathered regarding downtown buildings.

The committee is looking for any information on the buildings along Lake, Main and Victoria streets. The committee would like any information on when the buildings were built, who built them, who the occupants have been or other interesting facts.

MDA camp volunteers needed

How would you like to fill your summer vacation with friends, laughter, and good times? If the answer is yes, and a young man or woman, 16 years of age or older, then Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) invites those people to become a very special part of the MDA Summer Camp program.

This year MDA's Summer Camp will be held in Lake Villa, and will consist of two, one week sessions, June 7 to 14 and June 14 to 21.

Volunteers willing to spend the week at Camp are needed to act as companions to a child or young adult with Muscular Dystrophy. It's a wonderful opportunity to perform a valuable community service and enjoy a week of summer camp-free.

For further information and an application form, call 427-8611.

Jonites said.

Osmond, a two-term township trustee, said he will need a little on-the-job training.

"I will have to learn the job. It's going to take a while for me to get familiar," Osmond said.

Osmond said he expects the new township board to work well together. He added as supervisor his goal will be to provide more information to the public and get them more involved with township government.

"I will publish the meeting schedules in the newsletter and in the newspapers and I welcome association presidents and am willing to come out to talk with them," Osmond said.

He also mentioned he wants residents of villages such as Antioch, Fox Lake and Lake Villa who are also township residents to be educated about what the township government can offer them.

Jonites said she will continue to stay involved in township government. "I will still be in their hair," she said.

Youth Conservation Corps elects new board

The Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) Board of Directors announces the election of Jack Beavers and Judy Burgess to three-year terms.

A summer conservation job program, YCC is an award-winning public-private partnership initiated to improve the work ethics and enhance environmental awareness of Lake County teenagers. Celebrating its 23rd year, YCC has helped hundreds of young men and women gain work skills completing conservation projects, such as a trail construction and tree planting, in the Lake County Forest Preserves.

Beavers is the corporate vice president and director of Human Resources for Motorola's Automotive, Energy and Components Sector. He joined Motorola in 1964 as a production operator and held positions with increasing responsibility in Human Resources divisions at Motorola's New York, Florida, and Arizona offices before returning to Northbrook in 1988.

Beavers has served on numerous volunteer boards including the Boy Scouts of America, Junior Achievement, Nova University and YMCA. He was also an associate professor in the Arizona Junior College system.

Burgess is a partner in Graphic Partners, Inc., formerly the printing division of Burgess, Anderson & Tate, Inc. (BAT). Burgess worked in the printing division of BAT for 25 years before joining three other BAT employees in the purchase of the printing operation.

Burgess also serves as secretary of the Foundation for Education in Beach Park and is involved in community volunteer activities.

Since 1981, area business leaders and individuals have raised over $500,000 to fund the salaries of YCC youths. The program relies on donations to fund the positions, with a donation of $2,000 supporting each teenager. Last year, over $100,000 was raised, supporting 50 crew positions. The 12-member YCC Board assists in raising operating and growth funds for the program, coordinates the Annual YCC Celebrity Golf Outing, and provides policy direction.

For more information on the Youth Conservation Corps call Bob McCammon, Lake County Forest Preserve superintendent of support operations, at 526-4782, ext. 26.

Dalgaard said she faces peer pressure and temptations to drink squarely with a firm resolve not to do it.

"You have to believe in who you are and to look at people and be strong enough to say no," Dalgaard said.

Dalgaard, a senior, will be attending Illinois State University next year. She will major in elementary education and theater.

She helps coordinate Sigma Alpha Delta informational programs. She also enjoys the social activities the club participates in.

She competed on the Girls Golf team and also was a former member of the Softball team.

Dalgaard is unsure of her role at the event, but is anxious to participate.

Marching Sequoits hope to play in Disney World

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Sequoit Marching Band has a dream to play to audience at Walt Disney World and hopes that dream becomes reality.

The band has earned an opportunity to play in the Spectro Magic Parade the week of June 14-20. The band sent a tape and Disney officials felt the band deserved the opportunity to play at the "Magic Kingdom."

When the tapes are submitted to Disney World, they are either rejected or placed in bronze, silver or gold level. The band was chosen at the gold level for their performance.

The tape was prompted after the Sequoits captured first prize in a regional band competition at Franklin Park.

The band has increased in number from 64 to 114 members and had 90 percent attendance in band camp.

To get to Disney World band members need the help of the community to assist with financing the trip cost. The cost for each student is $450 plus some meals and spending money.

Volunteers needed for MDA summer camp

How would you like to fill your summer vacation with friends, laughter, and good times? If the answer is yes, and a young man or woman, 16 years of age or older, then Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) invites those people to become a very special part of the MDA Summer Camp program.

This year MDA's Summer Camp will be held in Lake Villa, and will consist of two, one week sessions, June 7 to 14 and June 14 to 21.

Sterling Finish to feature Earnhardt car

A general public open house highlighted by the opportunity to view the Richard Childress Racing NASCAR Winston Cup Monte Carlo of 7-time Champion Dale Earnhardt and the Busch Grand National car of Mark Green is planned for Thursday, April 17 from 2 to 6 p.m., at Sterling Finish.

34740 N. Hwy. 45, in Lake Villa.

In addition to the unique free opportunity of viewing these motorsports machines based out of the top race team in the country's Kannapolis, N.C. shop, the public will have the chance to tour the national award winning Sterling Finish shops.

The U-shaped assembly line concept pioneered by Henry Ford in his first automotive manufacturing plant in Michigan and perfected by European manufacturers has been adapted to a state of the art collision repair facility by Gordon and Greg Bockwinkel.

Sterling Finish was recently awarded the 1996 North American Collision Repair Business of the Year Award for the large single-location category by the Business Development Group.

In addition to seeing the inside workings of the 24-hour 72,000 square-foot two-story complex, the public will be able to see how the same European polyurethane paint used in the shop aids in the aerodynamic sleekness of the two racing machines.

In addition to its regular staff of 60 employees, the $6 million company has a working partnership with the College of Lake County in Grayslake for an apprenticeship program.

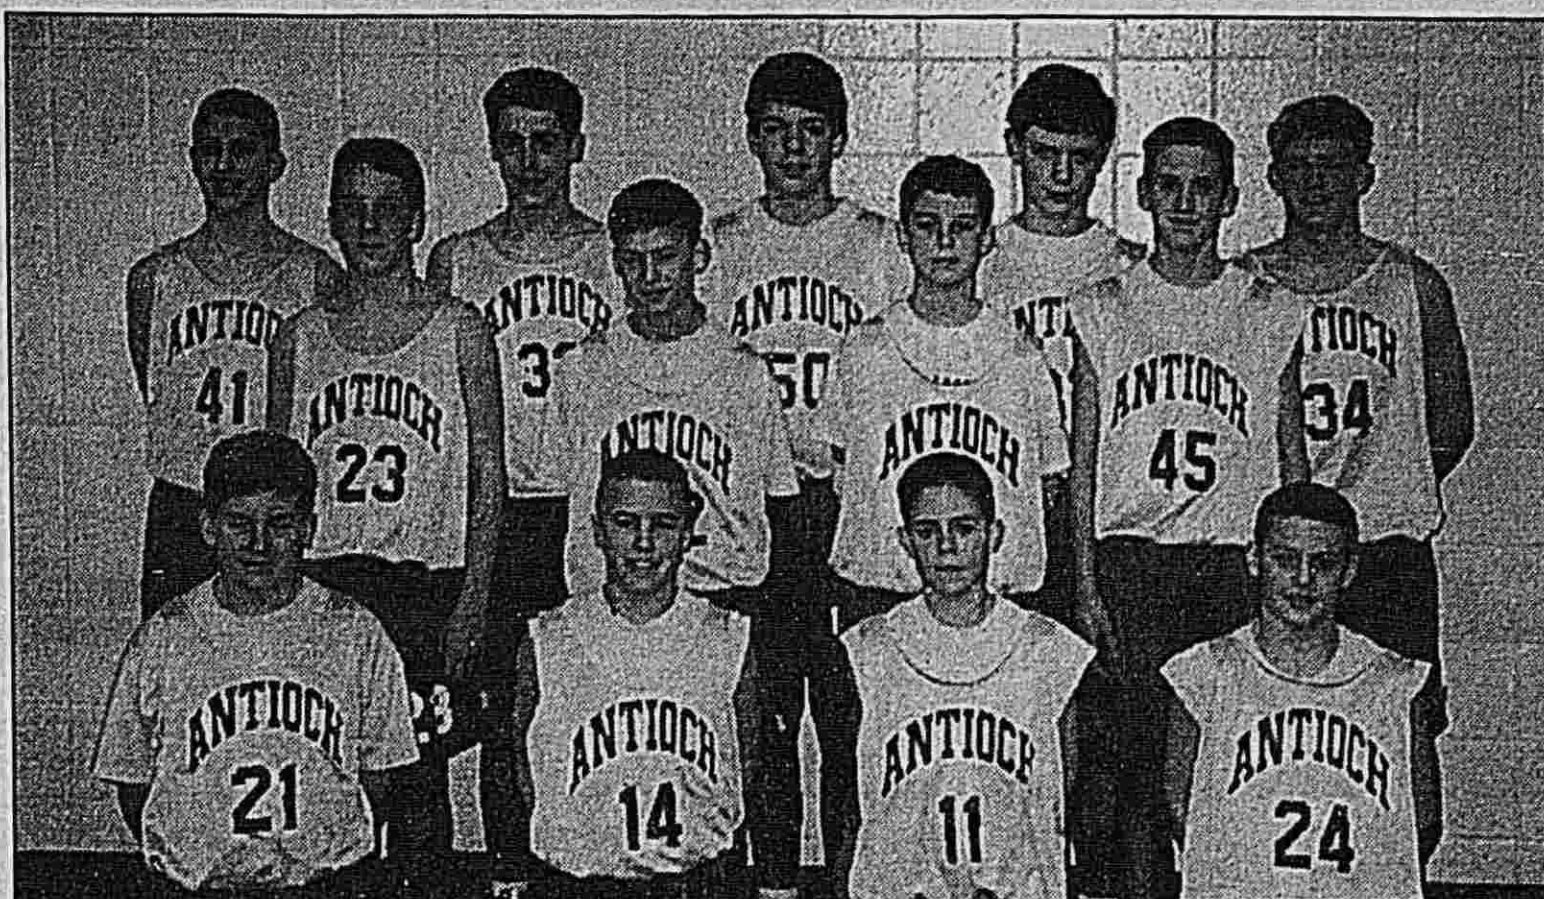

Management Software, a division of Sterling Finish, has been added with the addition of Sean Wilson as a partner to code and implement a software package for the collision repair shop industry.

Although currently a one location operation, Sterling Finish is exploring possible expansion to other locations within the mid-west.

For additional information on the Sterling Finish open house and services available contact Steve Trapp at 847-223-8522.

ACHS shows bright spots in splitting first four

Some good pitching and historic hitting gave Antioch High's baseball team a .500 record through four games in the early season.

The Sequoits' offensive highlights included a three-home run game from sophomore Brett McCullom. The Sequoits' pitcher had six RBIs for the game, but Antioch fell 9-8 to Waukegan in nine innings.

"He has the potential to be a pretty good hitter. He has to become a mature hitter and make adjustments to different pitchers," said ACHS coach Paul Petty.

ACHS is coming off last year's 19-9 season but, unlike last year, there are only five seniors on the roster.

"We had a lot of good senior leadership last year. That is a role our seniors will have to earn this year," said Petty.

Overall leadership will have to come from seniors: catcher Dan Watkins; second baseman Mike Sodaro; center fielder Pat Ewert.

The Sequoits split both doubleheaders, beating Wauconda 6-4 and losing 6-3 and then losing 9-8 in nine innings to Waukegan, but then beating them in the second game 4-1. McCullom got the win against Wauconda, and Mike Nielsen, a junior, earned the victory over Waukegan.

The Sequoits were lead by junior Chris Groth, who was 2-for-4 with two singles and an RBI; seniors Stu Johnson and Erick Bubash each had two hits. Johnson had a double and a single.

Petty commented on the solid pitching by Nielsen, who lead the charge against Waukegan.

"He pitched a lot of ground ball outs. We do not have any pitchers who will throw it by you," said Petty.

The combined effort of Nielsen's pitching and McCullom's hitting lead to the first wild finish of the year for the Sequoits.

McCullom's second homer of the day gave Antioch a 7-7 tie after four innings. He added a two-run shot in the sixth for a 9-8 lead. Waukegan came back and tied the game at nine in the seventh.

ACHS had the bases loaded in the eighth but could not score Groth home from third base in the extra inning.

A double, a sacrifice and two singles in the eighth put the Bulldogs in the win column.

ACHS will be looking to juniors for some major output this season. Second basemen George Fuchs and Karl Richter, and outfielders Addam Bubash, Mike Morrissey, Mark Mackie and Reggie Hughes will need to make contributions for ACHS to compete in the North Suburban Conference.

ACHS hosts Grant on April 3.

CLC Lancers' success based on hitting and defense

Pitching and defense were solid and hitting showed some signs of improvement during a trip through Florida for College of Lake County.

The Lancers posted the second-highest number of wins for the trip with a 10-1 mark bringing the Lancers' overall record to 14-5. The best record CLC has had through Florida was 11-1. Skyway Conference play started after the trip.

"The defense and pitching carried us. We have to pick up the offense, so more than two or three guys are carrying us. We saw some signs of that later in the trip," said CLC coach Gene Hanson.

Those signs were evident in the last few games, highlighted by a 15-2 thrashing of the Stetson Hatters junior varsity and a 7-6 win over Harper College.

Kevin Eckenstahler, of Antioch, continues to rip the ball. He returned home with a .450 batting average, 14 RBIs and four doubles.

Left-fielder Levar Dillard is getting in gear with a .448 average, 13 RBIs, five doubles and two triples. He has yet to be caught stealing in 12 attempts.

Second baseman Bob Hlousek is hitting at a .426 clip with four doubles and has six RBIs.

Shortstop Cory Clark, a

Warren High grad, is hitting .351 and is second in doubles and stolen bases with six and seven, respectively.

Mike Niemczyk, whom the Lancers hope to supply some power, blasted his first home run of the year and is hitting .327 with 12 RBIs.

Several pitchers have two wins at this point in the season. Joel Dangel, a Warren High grad, is 2-1 and had no earned runs in his first 19 innings; Pete Marquardt of Libertyville; Dave Griffin of Zion and George Valko are 2-0. Griffin has 18 strikeouts.

"The pitchers have kept us in games. They have a ratio of two strikeouts per each walk and we have 200 assists already," said Hanson.

The Lancers host Waubensee at noon in a Skyway Conference doubleheader on April 5, and Marquette on April 6 at their field in Grayslake.

Lean and Mean Lancers: The College of Lake County baseball team poses here for team photo. The Lancers are 14-5 and just completed a spring break trip across Florida where they went 10-1. The Lancers begin play in the Skyway Conference when they return from the trip.

8th graders post 14-10 record

The eighth grade junior boys Sequoits basketball team posted a 14-10 record for the season. Players were front row from left: Rob Lodesky, Eric Langner, Justin Kent, Ari Brown, Bryant Popp, Zach Pratt. Row two from left: Coach Kut Duehr, Eric White, Mike Perrone, Scott Hodina, Brandon White, Bob Huebner, Coach Mike Perrone.

Weber's pitching, hitting steadying forces for Rams

Grayslake High showed its ability to come back from an early deficit by splitting a doubleheader at Crystal Lake Central, then was swept by Palatine in non-conference baseball action.

Junior Dave Weber earned the win for the Rams as the team reached the .500 mark (4-4) again, at least for a while. Weber struck out six and walked four as he held down the Tigers' offense.

"Dave pitched a complete game. He battled back and gained a lot of confidence. We have been working with him since November on slowing his motion down," said Rams coach Sean Ferrell.

Nick Vlahos had the key hit with a single and two RBIs. Adam Bergin, a sophomore, laid down a perfect suicide squeeze to score a run. Weber helped his own cause with a 2-for-3 day including a double.

He also showed power in the second game, with a home run which account for half of the offense in a 13-2 loss.

"Dave is a big kid who has a lot of capability. He is poised and does not get flustered," said Ferrell.

The then 2-4 Rams, in addition to Bergin, have another new sophomore on the team as they called up Andy Powell. Powell will play second base, with some guidance from senior Jason Olson.

Palatine proved to be too much for the Rams in a doubleheader sweep on Saturday. The Pirates won 4-2 and 11-1. Palatine's Dave Caravelli no-hit the Rams in the second game.

The Rams will welcome a familiar face April 5 as they take on Mundelein in a non-conference doubleheader. Todd Parola, a member of the Rams' Hall-of-Fame, returns to GHS as coach of the Mustangs.

Rams boys track looks to reload to defend crown

Jason Gannt may have taken his talents for distance running to Illinois State University, but that does not mean the Grayslake Rams are void of athletes with desire and enthusiasm for the upcoming season.

"We are discovering where our talent is," said Rams coach Joel Peebles. "We know we have some good jumpers."

The returning Rams are led by Jeff Hagen. Hagen will compete in the long and triple jump and he is returning as the Northwest Suburban Conference champion in the 200-meters.

Senior Neil Schroeder is back for the 100-meters. Schroeder also played football for the Rams.

Sophomore Rich Anderson and junior Brian Noi lead the effort in the shot put and discus events. Freshman Dave Bruce is also expected to contribute.

"We would like to repeat as NWSC champs, but we know it will not be easy," said Peebles.

The Rams host Antioch in a non-conference meet April 7.

Defense improves as ACHS notches first softball win

Antioch High girls softball coach Steve Wapon views the season in four parts.

"The first part was seeing different competition in central Illinois. The second is seeing non-conference competition in Lake County. The third season is the North Suburban Conference season and the fourth is the post-season," said Wapon.

The second season started Tuesday with Antioch earning its first win of the year with a 7-1 win over Grant in Fox Lake. Stephanie Haenchen earned the win on the mound with three strikeouts and scattered three hits.

"We played well. There was some sparkling defense behind her. That did not surprise me. In all but one of the first six games, we played three-fourths of a game. This was our first complete game," said Wapon.

Angie Pederson led the hitting attack. The senior had a pair of triples and three RBIs.

Jamie Silarski had a single while Kacy Koperski and Jenny Piefer each added two singles.

The defense was led by second baseman Laura Deutsch, who had four assists and four putouts.

The win followed a 6-0 loss to Rockford Harlem in the home opener on Monday.

The Sequoits (1-6) saw their chances drop faster than the temperature in the later innings as they could not solve Harlem pitcher Misty Beaver. Beaver held the Sequoits to just one hit. Silarski was tagged with the loss for an 0-3 record.

Rockow had the only hit for the Antioch girls, a single in the sixth. "She has a lively bat," said Wapon.

Wapon credited the Harlem pitcher, who had 11 strikeouts.

"Harlem is a good team. We had not practiced for a week and we had some real correctable errors," Wapon said.

Antioch hosts Woodstock April 5 in a non-conference doubleheader.

Sportsmanship note: afterward, Harlem players thanked ACHS hosts with a chant and the Sequoits followed with a "you're welcome."

Newport neighbors won't be joining Old Mill Creek

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

The annexation of the Newport Environmental Association Team (NEAT) area into Old Mill Creek has hit a major bump in the road and the group isn't holding its breath for anyone to come along and clear the path.

NEAT, a non-profit neighborhood group which is comprised of approximately 100 members residing within the boundaries of Route 45, Interstate 94, the Wisconsin state line and Route 173 was interested in annexing into Old Mill Creek and won unanimous approval of investigating the matter further from the village plan commission. The village board wasn't in agreement on the subject.

At the full board meeting in March a consensus couldn't be reached on the matter and it was decided the board and NEAT representatives would meet to explain the proposal in further detail. The meeting never happened.

Plan Commission Chairperson Ray Boller said there was a lack of interest from board members and the meeting was called off.

Pat Hayden, a NEAT member who has been representing the group in front of the Old Mill Creek Board, said at this point they're "looking at different options but nothing in particular."

"Several of us have gone to Wadsworth meetings, but haven't solicited any written material... We just caught Old Mill Creek at a bad time," she said.

When asked if they were discouraged, Hayden answered, "yes and no, none of us had any idea to push our way into where we weren't wanted."

The group had an interest in annexing to Old Mill Creek because they liked their village plan, believing it was similar to their preferences. They want to keep a minimum density of 5 acres per home site for their area.

NEAT initially pursued the annexation to protect themselves from the threat of high density development and zoning changes within unincorporated areas surrounding them.

If an incorporated village is within a mile and a half of a county project and disapproves, the county board needs a three-quarter vote to overturn the decision. Currently, as part of unincorporated Lake County, NEAT doesn't have as much leverage over zoning changes in their area. The county board simply needs a majority vote to approve a project.

Volunteers needed for Charity Marathon

Be part of the "Best Race of the Year" the 1997 Lake County Races. Over 1,000 volunteers are needed for the upcoming running and walking events on Sunday, April 27 that benefit Northeastern Illinois Special Olympics and Glenkirk. Nearly 5,000 people are anticipated to take part in the races, making it one of Chicago's largest charity events. Volunteers are needed along the 26.2 mile course, which stretches from Zion to Highland Park, as well as at Lake County Races' Health and Fitness Expo, April 25 to 26 at the Sheraton North Shore, Northbrook.

The 17th Annual Lake County Races will feature running and walking events of various distances including the Lake County Jenny Spangler Trustmark Marathon (26.2 miles), the Moore Half-marathon (13.1 miles), Victory/Saint Therese Enterprises, Inc. 10K (6.2 miles) and Lake Forest Health and Fitness Institute 3.5 Mile Fun Run and Walk. In addition, there is the First Midwest Bank five person Marathon Relay and the Decker and Linn Law Office Special Olympic Relays.

Volunteer areas include: registration, packet pick-up, souvenir sales, course marshals, finish line, water/aid stations, gear check, entertainment and crowd control, to name a few. All volunteers will receive a special edition Lake County Races t-shirt. To become a volunteer, call the Lake County Races at 266-RACE or send an e-mail message to runlakeco@aol.com.

Artist gains intimate knowledge of rare species by working on forest preserve projects which help them survive

Wildlife artist Tom Smith truly knows his bluebirds; he's overseen the building of 15 bluebird trails in the Lake County Forest Preserves, helping the bluebird make a comeback in this area. As volunteer coordinator for the Lake County Forest Preserve District, Smith has developed a special relationship with the prairie white fringed orchid, the great egret and many endangered and threatened species found in county woods and wetlands.

"Everything I paint, I've experienced and they are special to me," said Smith. "I use my paintings as an educational vehicle. I want people to know there are plenty of threatened and endangered species in Lake County. You don't have to go to the Amazon to find endangered species. They're right down the street."

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Smith uses a transparent watercolor technique. In this technique, white is never used; the color is mixed with water to lighten it. For white effects, paint is picked off the painting. An accomplished photographer, Smith paints from photos he has taken over the years. However, he points out his paintings are never exactly like the photo.

Smith's work will be exhibited throughout April at the Lake County Museum. There will be an artist's reception on Sunday, April 6, from 1 to 4 p.m. Smith's paintings were previously exhibited at Ryerson Woods Nature Center, where he had unprecedented success, selling two-thirds of his work.

"It was almost scary, I sold so much. I was down to five paintings, with the Lakewood exhibit coming up," said Smith. He was busy all winter, getting ready for the museum exhibit and expects to have about 20 works displayed. A portion of the profits from sales will go to the museum.

Smith attributes his success in selling his work partly to his in-depth knowledge of the subject. He notes that his species are painted in the right habitat. For instance, his bluebird is painted on a dead branch and bluebirds nest in dead wood. His orchids are painted against dark backgrounds, because they grow in the shade. "The people who buy my work are really interested in both watercolor and nature. Most of the people already know the scientific name for the species in the painting," he said.

Smith, 45, can remember always drawing and always wanting to be an artist. He grew up in Fox Lake and his family has a long history in the area. His mother, Jane Baseley's, family came to the area in 1929. His grandfather, Al Smith, was the highway commissioner and his wife, who is also a photographer, is very helpful in See WATERCOLOR page B7

Wildlife artist Tom Smith works on a landscape. He uses a transparent watercolor technique. Below, a painting of a year-round Lake County resident, the nuthatch.

Planetarium and the Chicago Academy of Science.

Smith came to the forest preserve in 1984 as an intern collecting seeds of native flowers and grasses. Working part-time he collected $60,000 to $70,000 worth of seeds. That position grew into his current job as volunteer coordinator.

Smith is responsible for overseeing volunteers who are involved in restoration projects for the preserve in Harbor, the town they also reside. Smith and his wife, who is also a photographer, is very helpful in See WATERCOLOR page B7

The colorful eastern bluebird is making a comeback in Lake County due to volunteer efforts to build bluebird trails. Right, the white lady slipper was once abundant in northern Illinois, but agriculture and urban growth have greatly reduced their numbers. Smith paints many threatened and endangered species.

Lake County Museum's family days filled with fun

All ages are invited to join the Lake County Forest Preserves' Lake County Museum for games, crafts and more at Family Day Sundays, an educational activity series which runs every Sunday in April, from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

On April 6, celebrate Earth Day early by making your own Recycled Mancala Game Board. Learn how to play this African American folk game and decorate your own mancala board using the materials provided.

Scavenge for Local Lore on April 13, to find the answers to a Lake County history crossword puzzle. The museum's lore master will give a sticker prize for correctly completed puzzles.

Stitch up some fun at Needlepoint Minis on April 20. Learn the tent stitch and take your practice piece of canvas home with you.

On April 27, become an archaeologist for the day at Pottery Puzzles. Test your archaeological skills as you match fragments of pottery to examples of whole pots.

Come early and explore the museum's new exhibits, "Model A to Z28: America's Love Affair with the Road," and "Wildlife Watercolors."

Family Day Sundays are free with general admission. Reservations are not required and there are no additional fees for activities. General admission to the museum is $2.50 for adults, and $1 for youths, ages 4 to 18. Children 3 and under enter free.

The museum is open from 1 to 4:30 p.m., on Sundays, and 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

The Lake County Museum is located in Lakewood Forest Preserve on Rte. 176, just west of Fairfield Road near Wauconda. For more information, call the museum at 526-7878.

'Empress'

The Northbrook Theatre For Young Audiences professional adult company presents the musical, "New Clothes for the Empress," April 5 through May 10 on Saturdays, at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m., at the Leisure Center Theatre, located at 3323 Waters Ave., Northbrook.

"New Clothes for the Empress," set in 18th Century France, adds a delicious twist to the classic Hans Christian Andersen children's story finding women can also be vain about the clothes they wear.

The Northbrook Theatre For Young Audiences is a professional theatre company of adult actors that perform with kids in mind. Field trips are available for school groups on Tuesdays and Thursdays; arrangements must be made in advance for those dates. Call the box office at 291-2367 for reservations. All seats are reserved and priced at $5.

Sears Model Club

The Sears Model's Club, a fabulous introduction to fashion and fun for girls and boys, age 8 to 17, is now registering a four class session starting April 10.

Classes are held at Hawthorn Center, Vernon Hills and offer a fun-focused introduction to runway, mannequin modeling and fashion coordination. The students model their favorite Sears fashions in three fashion shows for live audiences.

There is a nominal registration fee involved. For more information, call Diane Portman, program coordinator at 831-2356.

STAR shootout

Tickets are now on sale for the first annual STAR 105.5 Kids Causes All Star Shootout. The all-star shootout is a charity basketball game that will take place on April 19 at Crystal Lake Central High School. All proceeds will go to STAR 105.5 Kids Causes Charity that raises funds for organizations that benefit the children of McHenry and Lake counties.

Participating in the game will be Mike Donovan, Gary "The Bagel Guy," and other players from STAR 105.5 taking on local celebrities like Randy Salerno of Channel 9 News, Crystal Lake Mayor Bob Wagner, States Attorney Gary Pack and members of the CBA's Rockford Lightning and many more players.

There will be a halftime show sponsored by Dr. Kukla's office consisting of contests including a free throw shootout for the kids in which they can win a bicycle and other entertainment as well.

Tickets are $3 for adults, $2 for children age 6 to 15 and children 5 and under are free.

Tickets can be purchased by calling (815)459-7000 or at the STAR 105.5 radio station. The radio station is located behind McHenry College, 8800 Rte. 14 in Crystal Lake. For more information call Gary Castaldo at (815)459-7000, ext. 120.

Week of Young Child

The Week of the Young Child opening celebration for Lake County will take place Sunday, April 13, starting at 12:30 p.m. with three hours of free family entertainment at Gurnee Mills Mall.

Sponsored by the Child Care Coalition of Lake County, entertainment will feature Caribbean-born Danny Hinds and his Sundance Production Multiple Performing Arts Company with dancers, drummers and percussionists of all ages and audience participation.

Other performers are the Dave Herzog Marionettes, folk singer Fred Koch and the Northern Knights Magic Club. Children who bring in toy weapons can exchange them for free prizes. All families who attend are eligible for raffle prizes from Gurnee Mills merchants. Use parking lot G or H to get to the showcourt area, adjacent to the JC Penny Outlet. Rob Wechler from Grayslake as Pilate, Fran Jansta from Antioch as Annas, and Bruce Weise from Antioch, as Caiaphas in PM&L's production of "Jesus Christ Superstar."

'Jesus Christ Superstar'

The curtain is going up on "Jesus Christ Superstar" by Webber and Rice and directed by Ken Smouse from Antioch at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St., Antioch. Production dates are April 4, 5, 11, 12, 18 and 19 at 8 p.m. and April 6, 13 and 20 at 2:30 p.m.

"Jesus Christ Superstar" is a Biblical bonanza, a stirring luminous and impassioned rock opera about the healing and joyous quality of love. As a quest for human and divine truths, "Jesus Christ Superstar" speaks to the world in language and music particularly appropriate to our time.

Tickets are $10 for adults, $8 for students and seniors. For reservations, call 395-3055. Box office hours are Monday through Thursday from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

'Cats'

Tickets are on sale for the Fourth National Touring Company's production of Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Cats," appearing April 8 through 13 at the Rosemont Theatre, 5400 N. Performances are scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Tuesday through Thursday, April 8 to 10; 8 p.m. Friday, April 11; 2 and 8 p.m., Saturday, April 12; and 2 and 7 p.m., Sunday, April 13. Call Ticketmaster at (312)902-1500. For group information, call (847)671-5100, ext. 105.

'Kismet'

The intrigues, the comedy, the con-ning and the romance of an Arabian Night fable come to the Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre stage with the musical "Kismet." Performances are April 2 through June 8. The star-studded cast assembled for "Kismet" includes international opera star Timothy Nolen and award winning actress Alene Robertson ("Gypsy," "Hello, Dolly!" "Annie Warbucks") with Susan Moniz (star of Broadway's "Grease"), and Tony Capone (star of Broadway's "Miss Saigon"), and James FitzGerald.

Tickets are $33 for all performances. Seniors and students receive $10 off the regular ticket price Wednesday 2 and 8 p.m. and Sunday 2:30 p.m. performances. Most Thursday performances include a free steak dinner with the purchase of a full price theatre ticket. For reservations, call 634-0200.

'Little Mermaid'

Papal Players presents "The Little Mermaid," at Cutting Hall, 150 E. Wood St., Palatine. Join in the musical adventure under the sea with a fun filled one hour performance with Aria the mermaid and her sea friends. Scheduled performances are April 3, 9, 11, 19, 23 and 24 at 10 a.m. Ticket price is $5 pre-paid, $6 cash at the door. Advanced group purchases of 20 or more are $4 each. Call 359-9556 for tickets.

'Puss in Boots'

Barat College's Children's Theatre presents "Puss in Boots" at the Drake Theatre on the Barat College Campus in Lake Forest, April 5 and 6 at 1 and 4 p.m. each day.

"Puss in Boots" is a comical tale of an old shoemaker who dies and leaves his estate to his three sons. One inherits the old man's house, the second gets the shop, and the third son—Marcus—receives the family cat and a pair of tiny boots. At Barat, audiences from 3 years old on gain a lasting appreciation for live theatre through special performances produced just for them. All seats are $4 with group rates available. Call 295-2620 for reservations.

Food Souvenirs: What Can You Bring Home?

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Chocolates from Belgium, coconuts from Mexico, cheese from Switzerland. Food items can be the most practical gifts to bring home from your journeys. If you've ever received an oversized Mexican sombrero from some relative who insists it would look great on the wall in your den, you'll understand what I mean. But which of those delectable edibles is allowed to return with you?

Safe choices are bakery goods and candies. Fully cured cheeses such as muenster, cheddar, stilton and others, are allowed. Coconuts are OK if they do not have the husks. Dried foods such as coffee, tea, or dried nuts will pass. Fruit is only allowed if it is dried or canned and processed, but it must still be declared. Canned meats are OK only if they are cooked to be shelf-stable and hermetically sealed. Jams and jellies, dried spices and canned or processed vegetables are also allowed.

On the forbidden side we have uncured cheeses such as ricotta, cottage cheese and chevre as well as other dairy products. Bacon and sausage as well as any meat product not treated as previously described, and fresh fruits or vegetables are not allowed.

The U.S. is a little more liberal when your travel takes you to one of our neighboring countries. You can bring back fresh fruit from Canada as well as most kinds of meats. Your visit to Mexico will allow you to bring back bananas, lemons, limes, melons, pineapples and some other fruits. Meats, with the exception of pork and poultry, will also clear the border from Mexico.

While you won't have to clear customs on your return home from Hawaii, the Department of Agriculture will want to see. The beautiful flower leis are OK, but they must be treated and approved first. Pineapples and other fruits must also be approved for transport to the mainland.

If you're already on your way home with some great sausage from Germany, get out the crackers and wine and invite the rest of the plane for a snack.

CLC gets ready for first full-scale musical production

The Mainstage Theatre in the new Performing Arts Building at the College of Lake County will come alive with music and dance as a cast of nearly 30 musicians, dancers, actors and technical staff get ready for their first full-scale musical production, "She Loves Me." The show will be performed at 8 p.m. April 11, 12, 18 and 19 and at 2 p.m. on April 13 at CLC's Grayslake Campus, 19351 W. Washington St.

With a score by "Fiddler on the Roof" composers Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, "She Loves Me" was first performed on Broadway in 1963 and, 30 years later, was revived to huge success in 1993. The musical is based on Hungarian playwright Miklos Laszlo's 1937 boulevard comedy "Parfumerie," which provided the premise for two American films in the 1940s: Ernst Lubitch's "The Shop Around the Corner" (1940) and "In the Good Old Summertime," a 1949 MGM musical.

Set in a European perfume shop, "She Loves Me" presents a nostalgic tale of two feuding clerks, who unknown to one another, become romantic pen pals. When originally produced in 1963, major critics cited "She Loves Me" as one of the finest musicals ever to grace the American stage, yet the show never really found its audience. Most contend that the gentle, romantic voice was simply drowned in the lavish Broadway brass; however, since its premier, the show's unusual double-record set has become a collector's item and has been performed to sell out houses throughout the world. Much of the success is attributed to the beautiful score, which combines the lyric tunes of operetta with the energy of Broadway, and is filled with sensitive European melodies.

CLC's production of "She Loves Me" is directed by theatre instructor Bob Coscarelli; musical direction is by choral director Laurel Kaiser; and the orchestra is under the direction of music instructor Bruce Mack.

Tickets are $15 for the general public and $12 for CLC students, staff and alumni. Tickets can be purchased through the box office, 543-2300.

Watercolorist to be honored

Nationally and internationally recognized as a master watercolorist, Phil Austin will be honored by the Lake County Art League. Austin will be honored as a native son on their "Walk of Stars" in Paravonian Park located at Grand and Sheridan, Waukegan. Presently Jack Benny, Ray Bradbury and Otto Graham, Jr. are honored.

The ceremony by city officials and members of Art League will take place on Friday, April 4 at noon. It will be followed by a buffet luncheon at Mathon's. There will be a $15 charge for lunch.

The ceremony coincides with Austin's annual Deer Path Gallery Show, which opens from 6 to 8 on April 4. For further information and lunch reservations, call Laini Zinn at 336-9503.

Well prepared soil is key to lush lawns

If you want the nicest lawn in the neighborhood you'll have to be a slave to it. Better to just choose the right grass, prepare the soil properly, and keep it healthy. In the Midwest's climate, cool-season grasses are the right choice.

Most grass seed sold today is a mixture of different grasses. Conditions vary overall in your lawn, whatever type succeeds the best will thrive there and take over. And if your lawn is plagued by any disease, different strains will not all succumb to it.

Do not be cheap about buying grass seed, avoid mixtures that contain large amounts of annual rye grass. It sprouts quickly, but does not come back as its name implies. A small amount of rye grass is OK since it quickly sprouts, while the perennial grasses become established.

A mixture containing bluegrass is an excellent choice for the Lake County area. Merion and Windsor are also very good choices. Talk to a local nursery for species that will suit your lawn's needs.

Red fescue is an excellent choice for a low maintenance lawn. It is excellent for shade and

by Lydia Huff

will survive with little water and fertilizer. A mixture of 70 percent creeping red fescue and 30 percent bluegrass is appropriate for a low care lawn.

If you are going to establish a new lawn, direct seeding is the cheapest way to go. Seed in early spring, as soon as the ground can be worked.

Rent a rototiller to loosen the soil so it can be worked. Remove stones larger than two-inches in diameter and all debris. Make use of results of your soil test and add whatever is needed. Additives include lime, super phosphate, peat moss, well rotted manure and decomposed sawdust. Then add a fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. Add 25 pounds for each 1,000 square foot of lawn.

A mechanical spreader is the best way to broadcast seed. Divide the seed in half and spread the first half over the entire lawn using the setting at one-half the recommended rate. If you walked north to south, then repeat going east to west.

Mulching with barn hay will help hold moisture and then will rot into the lawn for added nutrients.

New seedlings must be kept moist until well established. Once seeds germinate they must be kept moist or they will die. An oscillating sprinkler is an excellent choice for this purpose.

You can over seed an established lawn to make it more lush in basically following the same principles. Remember "as the soil is prepared so grows the grass."

—Movie Pick— Carrey funny for half of 'Liar'

"Liar Liar" is probably $20 million Jim Carrey's funniest movie to date. It could have been a real comic movie milestone because of Carrey's innate funny-bone-tickling talents, combined with a story that almost writes the punch lines itself.

Carrey plays Fletcher Reede, a divorced Los Angeles legal eagle who is constantly breaking his promises to his 5-year-old son because he's too busy trying to climb the ladder of success and swinging in fast-paced L.A.

A broken birthday promise is one lie too many for his son, played by Justin Cooper, who tearfully reacts by wishing that his dad has to tell the truth for 24 hours.

The situation of a polished and ambitious L.A. lawyer being made to tell the truth, if only for 24 hours, is a fertility pregnancy of laughs that is a comedian's dream, but somehow "Liar", which has many highs, also has too many lows, too many of the laughs are telegraphed and expected.

This PG-13 rated flick brings us Carrey at his naggiest, handsomest and funniest, but it also brings us Carrey at his most tedious and repetitive.

Jim Carrey and Justin Cooper

When his son's wish comes true, the physical contortions he goes through when he does his best to lie as usual, deserve kudos, but here again we have too much of a good thing.

Maybe Carrey's high price tag indicates squeezing his talents to the max, but the big picture would be greatly improved if "they" would give it (Carrey) a rest, and focus that spotlight on someone else once in awhile. Carrey could use an injection of a Martin Short or the like, he could play the straight man too at times.

Reede, Carrey's character, actually doesn't realize what a compulsive liar he is until he finds himself ruining his social and business lives with the truthful remarks he is forced to make in just a few short hours.

His reaction to a policeman who pulls him over is classic. In Reede's jaded world all transgressions are forgivable except they "just can't handle the truth."

Jennifer Tilly is a sexy client and "L.A. Law's" Amanda Donohoe is another lady lawyer he's involved with. Both relationships change radically when Carrey plays George Washington.

The comedian creates a more believable persona in "Liar" than he usually does with all those eye-popping facial gyrations, yet it all still boils down to too much Carrey at one time.

We give "Liar" 3.5 out of five stars because "Oh What It Could Have Been!"—by GLORIA DAVIS

Dr. Singer states all learning problems are not created equal

Dear Dr. Singer,
My daughter has been having learning problems since she was very little. It seems to me that she must have missed something along the way because she just isn't doing very well at picking things up in school. We've tried tutoring and have helped her for hours and hours, but we are not getting anywhere. We know that she is bright and are very frustrated because we feel she just isn't reaching her potential. Is there any program or place that your know of that can help her get on track? She is 12 now and each year the work becomes harder for her. C.B.

Dear C.B.,
I have met so many parents who are going through the same things you are with your daughter. I cannot speak about other programs because I don't know enough about them to do them justice. I will tell you what I do know based on reports of others I have met with. I will also tell you a bit about a program I run called PACE (Processing And Cognitive Enhancement).
First and foremost, many learning problems go unresolved because the type of treatment is not targeted to the specific problem. Most people tend to go to a tutor first, when looking for help for a child's school related problem. While there is nothing wrong with tutors and in some cases, tutoring is the right direction, if the problem is not academic in nature, tutoring may not resolve the problem completely. When a child is having an academic problem, tutoring or reading readiness, etc. are completely appropriate and can be very helpful.
I've met a lot of people who have had success with learning centers for tutoring. The problem happens when the child is not having an academic problem, but rather a cognitive skills problem or a sensory problem of some sort. Cognitive skills are the tools we use to do academic types of things. An example of a cognitive skill would be processing speed or how fast your brain processes or learns.

Another example of a cognitive skill is long term memory. If these things are suffering, tutoring most likely will not hit the an intelligence test. This average reflects a person's present level of cognitive functioning—not a fixed ability that is constant across a life span. Cognitive skills are learned skills and can, therefore, be practiced and improved.

How do you determine if your child might be dealing with a cognitive processing problem? Here are some symptoms of a child who has a problem with cognitive processing skills:

Is unable to sit; cannot stay on task for any length of time; is easily distracted; avoids work that seems complicated or hard; has difficulty comprehending and remembering; has problems sounding out words; does written work very slowly—often fails to complete a task; has difficulty copying material—constantly looks up and down; often needs instruction repeated; has trouble reading and spelling; makes reversals—for example, confusing the words "was" and "saw" or the letters "b" and "d;" is disorganized and frustrated while studying.

Again, learning problems can be due to many things. The fastest and best way to determine the most appropriate line of action or program would be through testing, a good diagnosis and targeting the level of problem be it cognitive, sensory, motor, motivation, or academic. To learn more about the PACE program, call the number listed below.

mark completely. Helping to build up these cognitive skills is what can make tutoring and other academic skills much easier for the child to do and absorb. Traditional help for individuals with learning problems has typically focused on one of four methodologics: sensory therapy (visual, auditory), motor therapy (speech, occupational), psychotherapy (motivation), or academic remediation (remedial learning, learning disabled programs, tutoring).

All of these therapies are important and can be very helpful if the learning problem is targeted to the specific program. PACE approaches learning problems differently than these other therapies do. It looks at improving memory, how fast a child processes or learns new material, and visual and auditory processing. These cognitive/sensory skills are strengthened to make other learning like reading/spelling easier and more successful. Certainly, testing and a good diagnosis will lead you in the direction of which program is right for you.

Cognitive skills may sometimes appear fixed, especially since IQ results have been used for years to classify and label people as having a specific level of intelligence that is designated by a number. But the truth is that we do not have to accept poor cognitive skills because we can improve them. They are not fixed. A numerical IQ results is simply an average of the many cognitive skills that are tested by

April showers to bring blues power

Guitar Shorty must be seen to be believed! If you're a bluesman whose reviews include references to Albert Collins, Buddy Guy, Jimi Hendrix and gymnast Mary Lou Retton, you'd better believe you have some explainin' to do. Guitar Shorty has a rare gift to combine blistering blues licks and soulful vocals with somersaults, headstands and back flips. He has been described as "part chitlin' circuit survivor, part guitar god and whole lotta charisma." His latest Black Top CD, "Get Wise to Yourself," demonstrates Shorty's searing, string-bending technique, that has influenced the above-mentioned artists. Guitar Shorty appears at Chicago Blue Note, 1550 N. Rand Rd., Palatine on Friday, April 4 from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Cover charge is $7.

On Saturday, April 5 from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., hear Liquid Soul, a 10-person musical aggregation that is not your typical band; Liquid Soul is an aural and visual extravaganza. The group's trademark genre-bending mixture of jazz, acid-jazz, urban-dance, funk and hip-hop has earned them fans such as Billboard, Downbeat, LA Times, and Village Voice music critics; Dennis Rodman (who hired them for his private birthday party); Joan Osbourne, Eddie Vedder, John Popper and Cypress Hill (who all sat in with them); and even President Clinton (they performed for his inaugural festivities).

The hottest band out of Chicago since the Smashing Pumpkins, Liquid Soul has the honor of being the first act signed to new international indie label Ark 21 Records, headed by former IRS Records exec Miles Copeland. Their self-titled debut album has been making a splash on the national music scene, winning glowing reviews. Cover charge is $8. Call 776-9850 for further information.

handling the business aspect of his art work.

The dunes at Spring Bluff are a special area for Smith. "There is so much diversity in the dunes-land," he said. He's also fond of McDonald Woods for the abundance of waterfowl and of Grant Woods where he experienced an exceptionally successful restoration project.

"At Grant Woods, we took some buckthorn out . . . Plants that had been suppressed for 20 years shot up," Smith recalled. "It was a window of opportunity. But it doesn't always work like that."

Smith began painting regional wildlife in 1994 after taking a watercolor class with Bob Lossmann at the College of Lake County. He said he took the class to get motivated to start painting again and learned a lot about brushes from Lossmann. He started painting botanical portraits and then moved on to birds, which are colorful and adapt well to watercolor. Now, he is painting more habitats and landscapes.

He believes his work as a painter and with the forest preserve complement each other. "I get to work with things that interest me and I learn things from my work," said Smith. "I probably wouldn't have gotten involved with the bluebird or wood duck programs of my own initiative. But being involved has made my painting better, because I do know these things."

Give Your Child The Confidence To Succeed!

It's amazing what a child can achieve when they have self confidence. Part of developing that self confidence comes from setting goals and reaching them, from striving for excellent and achieving it, and from doing things you never thought you could. It's that kind of self confidence that learning Martial Arts can build in your child.

Our highly trained instructors teach your children in a safe, supervised atmosphere that makes learning fun. Call us today and take advantage of your introductory special, and give your child the advantage of a lifetime.

Clinic inspires women to commit to fitness

The inaugural Chicago Advil New Runners/Walkers Clinic for women can help provide first time runners or walkers with the tips they need to get started and stick with a fitness program. This event gets women excited about committing to a more active lifestyle by helping them create a personal training program—at no cost to participants.

The 1997 Advil New Runners/Walkers Clinic will take place on Saturday, April 5 at the Alumni Gym, Lake Shore Campus, Loyola Univ. of Chicago, 6525 N. Sheridan Rd., Chicago beginning at 10 a.m. Nine-time New York City Marathon champion Grete Waitz, assistant professor and head of the Dept. of Food and Nutrition at Loyola Univ. of Chicago Tracey

Carlyle, and long-time women's fitness advocate Sharon Barband will share information about proper stretching, good nutrition, and how to stay motivated in a fitness program.

"Through our sponsorship of the Advil Mini Marathon, we have found that women at every fitness level are looking for ways to improve their training program or get motivated to start exercising," said Carl Dornbush, director of public affairs at Whitehall-Robbins Healthcare, the makers of Advil. "The fitness experts at the Advil New Runners/Walkers Clinic can help women recognize their athletic potential and better prepare themselves to participate in the Advil Mini Marathon or any other sporting event."

Leading the panel of featured speakers at the action-packed two-hour clinic will be Grete Waitz, five-time winner of the Advil Mini Marathon. She will share her experiences as a world-class athlete and provide her own motivational training tips for sticking to a fitness program. Following Waitz, Tracey Carlyle will provide information on the importance of proper nutrition in any fitness or training regimen and offer some easy strategies for eating well when training for an event like the Advil Mini Marathon. National fitness consultant Sharon Barband—the voice of the Advil Mini Marathon—will moderate the clinic events and guide participants through a workout consisting of warm-up exercises, a one-mile run/walk, and a cool-down.

Participants should come dressed ready to work out.

The New Runners/Walkers Clinic is the starting block for the Advil Mini Marathon Series, a three-part fitness and training program for women of all ages and fitness levels. The second stage of the series includes the Advil 5K Tune-Up (3.1 miles) and Pee Wee Run taking place in Atlanta on May 3, in New York on May 11, and in Chicago on May 24. The series will culminate with the participate of more than 10,000 women in the Advil Mini Marathon, a 10K (6.2 mile) run/walk in Central Park on Saturday, June 7.

Women interested in the series should call the Advil Mini Marathon Hotline at (212)432-2288.

Sleep deprivation is invisible medical problem

MARLENE BROWN

Correspondent

Are you getting at least six hours of uninterrupted, good sleep each night? If you are not, you could be among the estimated 100 million Americans who don't function at their best, because of sleep disorders.

One expert has stated that sleep deprivation is America's worst invisible medical problem. Doctor William C. Dement, director of the Stanford University Sleep Disorders Clinic, ranks sleep deprivation along with sleep disorders as our number one health problem. What's unfortunate, is that until this disorder results in serious consequences, many people ignore the condition and use caffeine and other stimulants to seemingly cover up the need to sleep. Even Gallup Polls point to the high percentage of Americans who have frequent insomnia, so much so, that it appears to be an epidemic.

It only makes sense that if we spend nearly one-third of our lives sleeping, we should do everything possible to increase the quality and effectiveness of this precious time.

What hinges on this time of rest? During a good sleep cycle, the immune system is boosted by the substances produced by bone marrow and lymph nodes. Dreaming is a way of releasing tensions. Muscles relax. We become refreshed. When we don't sleep properly, we have a lower attention threshold. In addition, we have less resilience to stress, and experience reduced physical and mental capabilities. We become more susceptible to accidents, and we increase the probability of depression, moodiness, memory loss, and irritability.

If you suspect a medical or psychological problem, don't hesitate to get a professional opinion. It has been documented that certain conditions, such as Parkinson's disease and panic disorders could be causes of insomnia. These can be detected by brain wave patterns.

Before resorting to sleeping pills, consider some natural remedies. Sleeping pills can be dangerous, can cause "morning after" hangovers, impair coordination and increase the risk of accidents while driving. Addiction can be a result of increasing dosages. Some over the counter medications contain antihistamines which can not only cause unpleasant side effects, but can become ineffective after a short while.

So what are the alternatives? First, eliminates as much as possible of the following: overeating, eating late at night, worry, anger, fear, cold feet, poor circulation, nervous See SLEEP DISORDERS page B11

Managed care plans pose many questions

MICHAEL F. SHIBOLD

Given all that has been written about managed care recently, it's understandable that some people may have questions about HMOs, PPOs and other managed care health plans. While most of the stories about alleged problems in managed care plans have relied on anecdotes and unscientific surveys, some people may have concerns about their rights as patients.

Here in Illinois, managed care plans have a long tradition of putting patients first. Preventing illness and quickly restoring a person's health when illness or injury happen are the cornerstones of managed care plans. Still, it's important that members of managed care plans know that their patient rights are guaranteed.

Lawmakers in Springfield agree, and so they are considering legislation known as "The Managed Care Responsibility to Members Act." It addresses several issues including communication between health plans and members, continuity of care, physician choice and grievance procedures.

This bill, if it becomes law, would give every patient in a managed care health plan the right to information about their health plan and the health care providers who belong to the plan's network. The bill would prohibit health plans from terminating or suspending providers who advocate appropriate treatments on behalf of their patients. It would also prohibit so called "gag clauses," although these clauses don't exist in the provider contracts of managed care plans here in Illinois.

Some people want assurance that there would be continuity in their health care if their managed care doctor ever decided to leave their health plan. This bill would establish a procedure to make certain that a patient could continue seeing the same doctor for up to 60 days after the physician leaves the health plan.

Choice of health care providers is an issue often raised in discussions of managed care. See MANAGED CARE page B11

Condell presents 'Back to the Future'

Condell Medical Center's Perinatal Education staff will bring grandparents up to date on the latest in infant care at "Back to the Future."

A "Fair for Grandparents" will be held on Sunday, April 13 from noon to 4 p.m. at the Condell Acute Care Center, 6440 Grand Ave. in Gurnee.

The fair will present information and expertise on the following subjects: CPR, choking, Eylee Hunt, RN; safety/car seats; Almie Gramer; breastfeeding, Liz Spannraft, RN, IBCLC; bottle-feeding, Diane Hoffmann, RN; diapering, Robin Matteo, RN, RCE; obstetrical care, Richard Allen, MD; pediatric care, Tim Samelson, MD; pediatric physical therapy and rehabilitation, Condell staff; PACT (Pediatric Alternative in Creative Therapy).

For further information, call Condell Medical Center, Perinatal Education, 362-2905, ext. 5407.

Sleep disorders

ness, poor ventilation, caffeine (from mid-afternoon on), alcohol (as a nightcap, as it can seriously disrupt normal sleep cycles after it's metabolized), tobacco, sweets and carbonated soda.

Next, establish a pre-sleep routine. Do ritualistic, non-mental activities with little physical exertion. Choose from the following: warm bath or foot bath, rub your feet gently, put a little perfume (or men's cologne) under your nose (above the lip), exercise, but not to the point of exhaustion. Take a leisurely walk, water plants, prepare tomorrow's lunch.

Other points to consider: Are noises keeping you awake? Work to resolve this condition. Don't spend a lot of time in bed except to sleep. It's best to not watch TV in bed, and do not use it as a place to eat or talk on the phone. Don't throw off your sleep schedule. You might need calcium/magnesium, or Vitamin B, especially B6.

Establish a regular bedtime and awakening time. Do yoga postures and/or meditate. Write down errands and/or tasks to be done the next day, so they are off of your mind. Have ready your clothes and items you need for the next day. Deep breathe. Keep the room dark. Play soft music. Place a drop or two of an essential oil such as lavender, on a light bulb. The heat will permeate the area with a relaxing fragrance.

Herbal remedies are readily available in health food stores and can be taken in capsules, tinctures (liquid) or teas. The herbs most frequently used to ease sleep disorders include: chamomile, hops, kava kava, passion flower, scullcap, valerian, mullein (especially if you have a cold), peppermint. Some of these herbs are combined in capsule remedies, or in teabags.

A widely studied hormone, melatonin, has been proven to be beneficial to those suffering from jet lag. Slowing down the aging process, promoting immune enhancement, and helping to eliminate sleep interruptions are other benefits. Some natural sleep inducing formulas include melatonin. It's important to note the melatonin should be avoided by pregnant or nursing mothers, children, and those with hormone imbalances or auto-immune disorders. Bananas, corn, barley and rice are food sources that stimulate melatonin production. Sustained release herb formulas with melatonin work to keep you from waking up after a few hours of sleep.

Snoring can cause a great deal of discomfort and lead to problems. For snoring relief, elevate the head of your bed by putting a brick or two under its two back legs. This raises your head and keeps your airway open.

Don't put extra pillows under your head, they only kink your airway. Wear a cervical collar, the kind that's prescribed for people with sprained necks. Most snoring occurs when you lie on your back with the chin resting on your chest; that narrows the windpipe. The collar keeps the chin up and the windpipe open.

Keep a humidifier in the room. The extra moisture sometimes prevents snoring. Pay attention to your dreams (and/or nightmares), and be aware of conflicts that might need to be resolved.

Sleep apnea is so serious, that professional help is needed. Apnea is the temporary cessation of breathing, and usually occurs during heaving snoring.

Sleep apnea can be a life-threatening condition. Specialist can determine what kind of help you need, and can steer you to the correct provider of that service. Somewhere between breathing exercises and laser surgery, relief could be in your near future.

To receive professional information, you could consult your own physician, or independent professionals who are dedicated to providing services that diagnose your specific problem. Some services can be performed right in your home.

Among the easily accessible resources are: Condell Medical Center, Libertyville; Sleep Disorder Service and Research Center of Rush Presbyterian St. Luke's Medical Center, Chicago; Global Sleep Diagnostics, Lincolnshire; Better Sleep Council, 19 page booklet for No. 1, Better Sleep, P.O. MS self-help group formed

A new self-help support group for people with multiple sclerosis, their families and friends formed in Waukegan in cooperation with the Chicago-Greater Illinois Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. The next meeting will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m., Thursday, April 17 at Waukegan Community Church, 1016 Grand Ave. The next three meetings will be dedicated to the program "Learning to Live with MS." The program will be presented by Anne Levin from the National MS Society. For further information, call 1(800)922-0484, ext. 120.

ExtraCare offers families help

ExtraCare for families living with Alzheimer's provides adult day center services. The program's goal is to enrich the lives of people dealing with Alzheimer's Disease or a related condition by providing opportunities for social, physical, mental, and creative activities. By treating individuals with love and respect in a caring environment, they encourage the use and retention of daily living skills, while providing an enjoyable experience for program guests. ExtraCare provides family caregivers a respite from their responsibilities and allows them discretionary time for their personal needs. The center is open on Tuesdays and Fridays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and is located in the Wildwood Presbyterian Church, 33428 N. Sears Blvd., Wildwood. For further information, call 543-0922.

Managed care

The Managed Care Responsibility to Members Act would require health plans to have a sufficient number of primary care physicians and specialists in a community to give patients a meaningful choice. A managed care plan would be required to give its members access to doctors and hospitals that are within a reasonable distance of the patient.

A concern that some people have expressed about managed care is whether they can obtain medical care away from home, especially in an emergency. Most managed care plans already have provisions that address this issue, but this bill would make certain that a person will be reimbursed for covered emergency services at any hospital.

This bill also makes certain that all managed care plans in Illinois have detailed grievance procedures. Each health plan would be required to establish a grievance committee to listen to the concerns of the plan's members and quickly take the appropriate action. Having a clearly defined grievance procedure has long been one of the many advantages of managed care when compared to the old fee-for-service system. The Managed Care Responsibility to Members Act would put the force of state law behind that long-time practice.

Members of the Illinois House Judiciary Committee apparently saw The Managed Care Responsibility to Members Act as a reasonable approach to protecting patients' rights while allowing managed care plans to do what they do best: deliver high-quality health care at an affordable price. The lawmakers recently passed the bill out of that committee by a vote of 9-1. The Managed Care Responsibility to Members Act is exactly what its title says. It's a codified statement of a managed care plan's responsibilities to its members. For more health plans, the bill would put into law what already is being practiced. For patients, however, it would be another assurance that their rights are protected, and that care will always be the priority in managed care.

THE QUESTION:

If I could show you how to make virtually unlimited long distance phone calls without ever again having to write a check to pay for it... and at the same time help you earn a substantial income... would that interest you? Of course it would!

THE ANSWER:

I'm looking for a few good people to train and bring into our team. This is a fabulous, exciting business opportunity. For information, a three-way conference call or a chance to bring friends and attend a presentation in our home, call Bud Lawrence at (847) 433-0577 or listen to our message machine, (847) 433-8580. Either way leave your name, phone number and the best time to reach you. Please talk slowly and distinctly. I'll get back to you!

YOUR EYES

by Charlotte F. Nielsen O.D.

Even people with normal vision, with, or without the help of corrective lenses, need good light by which to see. Here are a few ideas to help ensure that your indoor lighting is helping you to see well.

Provide a shade for all light bulbs: the glare of an unshaded bulb produces eyestrain. Use light-colored shades for maximum light utilization and be sure the bulbs are adequate in both number and wattage. Provide general illumination to eliminate sharp contrasts between the bright and dark areas in the room. Sit close to the light for reading or close work.

If, with good lighting, you still have trouble seeing easily, arrange for an eye examination. If corrective lenses are needed, you'll be pleased with the result.

Can't believe it

I can't believe the person in Antioch who said that they wanted sewers to keep their property from flooding and help the environment. I don't know where they're coming from. There's $1,000 hook up, plus $2,000 more to have someone run the line to your sewer, then $100 every three months, and then you can't tell when it's going to back up. They've got to be silly. Where we live, we have our own well and don't pay any money. If you want to spend all that money, go ahead. But we don't have to.

Why?

Why do we who live in Leisure Village belong to Antioch Township? We live in Fox Lake and pay Grant Township taxes! Why?

Publish report

Every week I read the police reports in the Fox Lake Press. However, I have yet to see Fox Lake Police report the crimes committed where there were no arrests made. The only report they give is when they make an arrest. I challenge the Fox Lake Police Department to mention how many burglaries and thefts were committed in 1996 and how many arrests were made. I have been robbed five times in seven years. So, Fox Lake's finest, let's see what you do all year long. Print your crime/arrest ratio!

Let's be honest

It's easy to see why Lipservice has decided to cover Fox Lake so sparsely these last few weeks. It seems Mr. Schroeder can be bought like anyone else. Let's see how much Mr. Hamsher has spent on Mr. Schroeder's papers and we'll understand clearly where the issues are now. Come on, Mr. Schroeder, you're the newspaperman, you're supposed to report unbiased news. How about all the issues with the State's Attorney's office and the cover-ups in Fox Lake. How about Alberta Meyer accepting money before voting on the issue for Rainier Woods. Come on, Mr. Schroeder, let's be honest and open about it.

Editor's Note: During the last weeks of the campaign Lipservice items were limited to be fair to all candidates. The story on Rainier Woods appeared on Page A1 of the Fox Lake Press, March 28.

Not fair

It isn't fair. I live in Lake Zurich and we have a recycling program especially for cardboard boxes, etc. I have a group of five neighbors that think that they don't have to do recycling, everyone else should be responsible. I think something should be passed that they should be notified by the waste company and village that if they're not recycling large cardboard boxes, they shouldn't get their deduction. They seem to be above the law when it comes to village codes.

Two sets of rules

I was wondering if there are two different sets of rules out there on driving. I am so flustered with people driving through red lights. I don't understand why no one understands what a red light means anymore. They think it means the next 10 cars can go. I'm perplexed at the way people are driving and the way other individuals allow this behavior.

Not true

The Lakeland Newspapers' Party Lines article on March 28 implied that Allen Stubitsch's campaign was funded by John Christopholous. It really leaves a bad taste in the mouth of readers. The article didn't bother to say that the rumor isn't true, but rather rambled on about the Christopholous family's alleged connections to illegal activities. It's simply not true.

We want peace

There's a family in Mundelein's Loch Loman subdivision who have a dog that barks constantly at anything overhead, a bird, a plane, a cloud. You know who you are. Please put your dog inside when he's constantly barking. Let the poor dog in once in a while. Everyone in the neighborhood hears this dog and nothing has been done about it. We would appreciate some peace in our subdivision.

Check it all

Let's check the use of cellular phones that Vernon Hills allows the board members to use, the credit card bills again at Legends, and let's check the credit card bills at the golf course where these guys go for drinks. If you're going to check it out, let's check it all out.

Very immature

We live in Fields of Ambria. Last week our house was egged, we don't know by whom. When we called the police they said we weren't the only house that was egged. I think it's disgraceful, immature, and inexcusable.

Dine & dash

I have an open letter to all police officers of Round Lake Beach: Why do you people feel you don't have to pay when you eat at fast food restaurants on Rollins Road? I'd like an answer.

Write about girls

I was just wondering, there was a big article in Lakeland Newspapers about the boys traveling team winning a championship, but the girls fifth grade traveling team won out of the whole league and there wasn't one article about them. Why didn't they?

Hmmmm

I notice that the person who was complaining about people not leaving names with their Lipservice comments didn't leave his name.

Letting you know

This is in reference to an article in the March 28th Lipservice titled "Let me know." What I look for in a daycare provider is someone that is nice, friendly, and easygoing. Activities are a plus, but not mandatory. Someone that would take good care of my child who I can trust, feed my child, keep him clean, and just someone in general that I feel can take care of my child and keep them safe and sound.

Control dogs

I'd like to know why we can't have a police ordinance like Spring Grove's got for leashed pets. I live on a quiet dead-end cul-de-sac with five houses and my yard is invaded by eight Labs. My veggie garden and flower garden get trampled. They should have to be on leashes when they're not on the owner's property unless they're under the owner's direct control. Violators should be subject to a $25 penalty. None of them have dog tags, either. Give me a break!

Get license number

As a grandparent, my advice to parents of children who are old enough and able to do so, keep your distance from the child enticer, but get his license plate number. If this can be obtained safely, then his career will be put to an end. Good luck and guard your children!

Pay the price?

I'm calling about the comment in March 28's Lipservice titled "Be responsible." You should understand the circumstances of an incident before you give an opinion. There's quite a few different reasons why that license was pulled. You said, "pay the price." I'd like to see you go through what I'm going through right now. The incident was totally blown out of proportion.

Ignorant opinion

As far as I can tell, the arguments against uniforms in the public schools can only be based on three premises: 1. That the parent who is against uniforms is too lazy to deal with them; 2. That the parent is ignorant of the facts regarding improved academic performance in schools that have them; and 3. That the parent had to wear uniforms themselves and didn't like them for the first reason listed. Maybe there's a fourth reason; that the parent is involved with gangs and drugs or doesn't realize that the Kings jacket her kid wears is his colors. To the Round Lake District 116 school board, bringing back uniforms would be the first thing you've done in five years that would convince me that you're capable of pulling your heads out of your butts for a breath of fresh air!

She's a saint

Recently I read a comment complaining about how much Fox Lake teachers make. My child's teacher is Mrs. Glauser. She makes a little over $39,000. She instructs 62 kindergartners a day. Anyone who's been around even five kindergartners at a time, knows Mrs. Glauser is underpaid and is up for sainthood.

Need bus service

I live in Lake Villa and I would like to let Pace know that there's a big need for a bus to run between Lake Villa and Lindenhurst to Gurnee Mills and Great America. I'm sure that there's plenty of parents out there who are getting tired of driving their teenagers to work. It would be appreciated!

Blessing wrong

I'm calling about the Easter food blessing at St. Peter's Church. We were all disappointed. People came with baskets of food to be blessed. The priests looked at the food and that's it. They prayed one minute and didn't know what else to do. I always think the priest is here to teach people, but it looks like someone should teach him. Every Easter Catholics have food blessed. Where did he learn to be a priest? Pity him.

Get law changed

According to the AMA Family Medical Guide, Hepatitis B is spread by homosexual and heterosexual activity. I spoke to my doctor and he said that it would have to be transmitted by blood to blood contact as through a shared needle. Why is it a law then that my three-year-old must get a Hepatitis B vaccination to get into preschool? Parents, ask your state rep why the state is forcing all our preschoolers to be vaccinated against a sexually transmitted disease. Parents need to make informed decisions about our children's medical health. This is a bad law and needs to be revoked.

Disgraceful

Last week I was getting my driver's license renewed in Waukegan. I was shocked. The boy in front of me was no more than 17 and was applying for a driver's license. He had no identification, nothing at all. The woman said, you shouldn't be driving, it's dangerous. She shook her head and he walked out. Shouldn't she have gotten the supervisor and got the police and checked him out? I couldn't believe it. It's a disgrace.

Moving violation

I'd like to know why a Round Lake Area Park District Commissioner can move out of the district, and still be a member of the park district? Once you change your address and no longer live in the district, I thought it was against the law to hold office in the district you're supposed to reside in. Just because you own property doesn't give you the right to be on the board; you have to actually live there. I think it's time for this gentleman to resign and let someone who lives in the district be on the board.

Some provider

This is to the so-called daycare providers in Country Walk Court. Wouldn't the parents, who entrust their children in your care, like to know that you stand out in the driveways drinking beer during the day while you are supposed to be caring for their children? All I can say is a picture can speak for itself. At least the providers I associate with are responsible adults and can stay sober until their responsibilities are finished. You give good daycare providers a bad name.

Platinum wedding rings symbolize beauty and strength of your union

The wearing of a wedding band expresses how two people feel about each other without saying a word. Today, many couples are saying "I love you forever" with platinum.

According to a recent survey conducted by the national magazine Modern Bride, three times as many brides are considering platinum wedding rings.

Jewelers of America, the national organization dedicated to providing consumers with information about fine jewelry, predicts that interest in this precious metal will continue to grow.

What is platinum's allure? Many people are choosing platinum rings because the bride's mother or grandmother wore platinum jewelry, while others are starting their own family traditions by buying platinum wedding bands.

Platinum is as traditional as weddings themselves. Its radiance and color beautifully showcase a diamond's natural sparkle and its rarity adds to its appeal. In fact, platinum is the rarest metal on earth, and wearing this precious metal on your finger exemplifies the uniqueness and value of your lasting love.

"Another appeal of platinum is its strength," says Eileen Farrell, JA's director of communications. "It's durable—the perfect symbol of a strong connection between bride and groom. That is why so many young couples today are choosing platinum." Because of platinum's density and weight, it is uniquely desirable for men's wedding bands.

One thing is for sure. The beauty of platinum is a symbol of a love meant to last and a sentimental gift to be enjoyed forever.

Haven benefit can be a blast from the past

A "retro" prom theme will provide "A Havenly Night" for guests at the annual fund-raiser for the Lake County Haven.

The shelter for homeless women and children is entering its fifth year of operation, and the annual dinner dance is their biggest fund raiser. "It's a really important benefit for the agency," said Executive Director Laura Sabino.

Scheduled for April 12 at the Lake Forest Club, 554 N. Westmoreland Rd., the event will begin with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. A sit-down dinner, served at 7:30 p.m., will include appetizers, salad, roasted chicken and rice, along with treats from a tempting

A silent auction will feature all kinds of entertainment and dining packages, sports items and theme baskets. Sabino hinted at the goodies.

"We got a bench from the Bulls signed by Phil Jackson," she said. "All the major sporting groups are represented."

In keeping with the "prom" theme, Stax-O-Wax will provide dancing music. Some guests are sure to get into the spirit and "have fun with it," with "prom" photos and everything, said Sabino, but everyone will enjoy it.

Teacher sets sights on regional arts center

JEFF PATERSON
Staff Reporter

If a new initiative by a local art teacher is successful, the youth and adults of northern Lake County will have access to an innovative art resource center and children's museum which is second to none.

To be named The Art-Works, the center is the brainchild and dream of Rhonda Heaney, an art instructor at Fox Lake's Gavin School.

"It will be the realization of a life-long dream for me," says Heaney of the center. "The miracle of it is that it's all coming together."

A commercial artist and illustrator for 20 years, Heaney, an employee with the Gavin District office, became involved with the school two years ago by teaching a kindergarten to third grade art program twice a week. That program has now developed to include students from pre-kindergarten to grade eight and, based on its success and principles, Heaney wants to create The Art-Works as an interactive, hands-on learning environment for students.

In her program at Gavin, Heaney structures her lessons to include art criticism, and aesthetics as well as production, and tries to link art lessons with what is being done in other classes. She wants to maintain that interdisciplinary approach at The Art-Works by creating activities that are not only fun to do, but that will also stimulate students by using touch, as well as sight, to experience art.

"Some students learn in ways other than looking at material on a page," Heaney says. "I want to help students who learn by tactile activity, who learn by doing."

Plans for The Art-Works include a floor loom and wall puzzles in which students can reassemble the pictures of famous paintings, using nearby prints as a guide. Another proposal is for a large wall map of the Earth to contain viewports to examples of art from around the globe, with climbing ladders giving young patrons access to these "windows on the world."

Using eight to 10 contributed computers, students will also be able to use software to create pictures and to make CD-ROM trips to international art centers such as the Louvre. Plans call as well for a children's sculpture garden, in which students can use Toobers and Zots housed in activity tables to create their own artistic shapes.

The Center would also include a number of resources for sale to patrons, such as art books as self-contained instructional weaving kits, and other resources for loan to schools. Heaney says that these school resources could include such items as museum kits filled with artifacts and art prints from other cultures, which would include ideas for incorporation into the curriculum.

Heaney notes that a children's art center, which is similar in concept to the Art-Works in Florida, brings 65,000 visitors annually to a village the approximate size of Fox Lake. Because of this fact, she says she feels the art center could make economic as well as cultural contributions to the area.

"I want to become an art advocate in this area, organizing a group of people in the arts, technical illustrators, actors, musicians, dancers and others, to do workshops in area schools," she says. "If I could get 50 to 100 people, it would be a huge resource to schools."

She adds that members of the artist group would also attempt to see TEACHER page C2

Gavin school arts instructor Rhonda Heaney supervises the creative work of second-grade students. Heaney is in the process of creating a children's art museum and resource center in the Fox Lake Area which she calls The Art-Works.

Scouting remains strong in Lake County

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Scouting remains strong in Lake County, retaining members at rates higher than the national averages.

"We just did a rechartering of troops and packs and we are doing a good job of retaining members, stronger than the national average. For Cub Scouts, the national average is one-third dropping out and we are at 18 percent. For Boy Scouts, the national average is 25 percent and our average is 18 percent," Wayne Pancost, executive director of the North Star division, said.

Pancost said many new badges have been instituted such as crime prevention and rappelling and old stand-bys have been updated.

"Scouting offers an environment which fosters citizenship and character, but camping is our hook," Pancost said.

Pancost told Gurnee Rotary Club members that Explorers Posts are offered for youth age 14-21. Agencies with posts include North Chicago and Wauconda police and Abbott Laboratories. "That gives the Scouts a chance to find out if a certain career is for them or not," he said.

Pancost, who has attained the highest rank in Scouting of Eagle Scout, has been involved with summer camps since he was 16.

He has held positions in Missouri Scouting districts of recruiting new Scouts before moving to the Highland Park based North Star District.

"We have 4,000 Scouts, which is a 25 percent increase. It is a higher percentage in the Cub Scout age. This area is very strong in Scouting," Pancost said.

Some 1,000 Cub Scouts, grades second to fifth, attended a winter campout at Lakewood Forest Preserve.

Concern over dangerous street drugs prompts NICASA seminar

Concern over the proliferation of dangerous street drugs has prompted the Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School and the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA) to sponsor a "Current Drugs of Abuse" seminar.

The event will be from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., Friday, May 2, at the medical school, 3333 Green Bay Rd., North Chicago.

Laurel Dahl, NICASA's prevention administrator, said the seminar will provide information crucial in identifying, assessing and treating individuals dependent on alcohol or other drugs.

She encourages criminal justice providers, human resource providers, prevention specialists, school personnel and parents to attend the seminar.

"We were getting requests from schools, communities and youth groups as well as prevention and treatment professionals for up-to-date information on street drugs," Dahl said. "There are some very real concerns about the variety of dangerous drugs that are out there."

Dahl said presenters will talk about such "designer" drugs as "ecstasy" and "black beauties." Heroin use, fetal alcohol syndrome and other issues will be addressed. She said the information presented will assist the participants in forming a solid base of pharmacological information.

Presenters will be:

- J. Randell Weber, MPH, director of training and publications, Chestnut Health Systems, Lighthouse Institute;

- Frank White, PhD, professor of neuroscience, Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School;

- Ann Snyder, PhD, Associate professor of pharmacology and microbiology, Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School, and

- Wayne Hunter, task force agent, Drug Enforcement Administration.

The $25 fee includes lunch. For more information, contact Laurel Dahl, NICASA, 546-6450.

Preserve approves Equestrian Center

Planned for Grainger Woods

A new equestrian center for horse lovers of all ages will be offered at Grainger Woods Conservation Preserve near Mettawa this summer, following action taken by the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners at their meeting.

The Forest Preserve Board approved a 10-year license agreement with Northbrook-based Meadowview Stables, Inc., to develop, manage and operate an equestrian center at the southeast corner of St. Mary's Road and Route 60 in Grainger Woods Conservation Preserve.

As an approved concessionaire of the Lake County Forest Preserves, Meadowview Stables will provide boarding services and riding lessons. They will also offer special training programs designed to provide physically and developmentally challenged individuals an opportunity to develop their own level of equestrian skills and horsemanship.

Meadowview Stables will immediately begin repairs and improvements to the Preserve's existing barns, office and residence. In addition, Meadowview Stables will install six new turn-out paddocks, and a new outside sand arena for training and exercise. The new equestrian center is scheduled to open in June.

Hours of operation will be 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., daily.

The Lake County Forest Preserves will receive a total of $505,000 in additional non-tax revenue from the 10-year license agreement period which begins April 1, 1997 and ends March 31, 2007. The annual license fee will be paid monthly over the 10-year period. Meadowview Stables also will pay for all improvements to the Equestrian Center buildings.

In 1995, with funding provided by Grainger, a "green ribbon" citizens advisory committee formulated a master plan of potential uses of the forest preserve. Preserving and restoring the preserve's savanna, prairie, and flatwoods while providing public access for educational and passive recreational opportunities, including use of the existing horse stable and riding facility, were among the recommendations made by the committee.

The 257-acre Grainger Woods Conservation Preserve was donated to the Lake County Forest Preserve by W.W. Grainger, Inc., and serves as a national model of an innovative public/private partnership. Grainger Woods is part of Grainger's unique conservation development plan for its new 515-acre corporate headquarters, located on Route 60 just west of the Tri-State Tollway. The plan includes an office campus, a single family housing development along Everett Road, and over 300 acres dedicated as open space.

Headquartered in Lincolnshire, W.W. Grainger, Inc. is a $3.3 billion nationwide distributor of equipment, components and supplies to the commercial, industrial, contractor and institutional markets.

For more information on the new equestrian center at Grainger Woods Conservation Preserve, call the Lake County Forest Preserves at 367-6640.

Although still in the planning and fund-raising stages, with official not-for-profit status for The Art-Works being obtained from an application in January, Heaney has been encouraged by the warm response and support the idea has received from the public and educators alike.

"Everybody I've talked to so far has been very excited about it and every door I open leads to another one and someone else who wants to help," Heaney says.

Supervisor election close

ANTIOCH TOWNSHIP—Township Trustee Tim Osmond narrowly held off a strong challenge from activist Carole Jonites.

Osmond received 1,564 votes and 53 percent of the vote compared with Jonites with 1,406 votes and 47 percent of the vote.

"I thought if the turnout was low it would be a close race," Osmond said.

He said name recognition from being a business owner, trustee and community involvement gave him the edge over his challenger.

Osmond said he will have to learn on the job. He wants to have more communication with residents and encourages subdivision officials to approach him with their concerns.

Jonites was pleased she did well in the village of Antioch but was disappointed she lost in some township precincts. She says she will stay involved in township politics. —by ALEC JUNG

Township election close

LAKE VILLA TOWNSHIP—All elected races went down to the wire with every race too close to call until after all the precincts were counted.

Township Supervisor Sue Hanson was elected to serve her third term. She fended off a strong challenge from newcomer Virginia McGregor who lost by a mere 206 votes.

"It's bittersweet for me," Hanson said. "Four of us won and four of us lost."

McGregor said she will stay involved in township government and be a voice for the people.

A three-way highway commissioner race was neck and neck. Jim Jorgensen's 990 voters were just enough to edge Jim Schiller with 976 votes and Independent candidate Terry Agonath with 938 votes.

Assessor Kathy Kane edged Bob Schmidt by 28 votes in a tight race.

Newcomer Pat Spellman nipped Ted Restarski by nine votes for the final trustee seat.

Clerk Lynn Hoffmann defeated Laurie Behrendt by 90 votes. —by ALEC JUNG

Bowling perfection

ROUND LAKE - Round Lake resident Ted Beres bowled two perfect games at Lakes Bowl on March 25 and 26. At 24, he has been competing there for 10 years, coming up through the teenage leagues and into adult play.

"I was confident; I just knew I could do it; pressure is what makes me go," said Beres, who has bowled many a perfect game in practice. Beres averages 215 and currently bowls three times a week.

For his exceptional bowling, Beres will be awarded a gold ring with a diamond and a ruby by the American Bowling Congress. Unfortunately, the ABC limits members to one major award per year, so the new ring will have to serve as a memento of both of his perfect games. —by JEFF PATERSON

District 114 tax hike refused

FOX LAKE - In one of the most telling results of the April 1 consolidated elections, the referendum in District 114 for a 40-cent increase in the educational tax rate was turned down by more than two-to-one, 1,269 to 534.

"We were knocked down by a big truck," said School Board President Nancy Koske of the effect of the result on supporters of the referendum. The Board had asked for the increase in the tax rate to help overcome annual District shortfalls averaging $300,000.

Without the increase, Koske said that the Board would have to proceed with planning for deeper budget cutbacks, while attempting to minimize their impact upon the quality of education. She added, however, that the referendum issue would likely reappear next November.

"We'll have to take a look at it to see what we could do better," Koske said of the referendum campaign, but added that "if we've got to go for it for five times, that's what we're going to do." —by JEFF PATERSON

Wis. man kills self on tollway

WADSWORTH—In an unusual turn of events, a Wisconsin State Trooper and an apparent car thief wound up their high speed chase with a climactic ending — the thief fatally shot himself in the head after miscalculating his aim.

This all happened March 31, at the Waukegan Toll Plaza on Interstate 94 north of Wadsworth Road around 10:20 a.m., Hadrain Brydges 23, of Milwaukee, Wis., was driving a 1994 Lexus that had been reported stolen from a gas station off Seven Mile Road in Wisconsin, earlier in the morning. Wisconsin State trooper Doug Hanson spotted Brydges driving the vehicle south-bound on Interstate 94 in Racine and attempted to pull him over. Brydges then led the officer on a chase traveling around 100 mph. Approximately 4-5 toll gates were shut down for around five hours while the crime scene was investigated. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Teacher killed on Easter day

WARREN TOWNSHIP—A 21-year-old teacher at Grayslake's Peppermint Stick Preschool lost her life Easter Sunday following a freak one car accident. An apparent loss of control is the only explanation at this point to describe the accident that took the life of Erin Brady of Grayslake and left the driver, her fiancé Mark Sneyd 24, also of Grayslake, relatively unharmed.

Lake County Sheriff's spokesperson Corporal Thomas Braze said the accident is under investigation. According to the accident report Sneyd's 1995 Chevy Tahoe was traveling north on Route 45 just north of Grand Avenue when it left the road around 2:25 p.m.

Both were transported to St. Therese Medical Center where Brady was pronounced dead. Sneyd was released later that afternoon. According to Coroner Barbara Richardson, Brady's death was a result of injuries to her chest and abdomen.

The students at the school were told of the accident Monday morning, but Kubiniak said many were very young and didn't understand. The parents who knew Brady were very shocked by the news. Kubiniak did say the older girls in the after school program were more aware of what happened and seemed shaken by the loss. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Woodland eyes bus fee amount

GAGES LAKE—The days of the free bus ride on Woodland Dist. 50 school buses are over for St. Patrick and St. Gilbert students. Parents are waiting to see what the new cost of transportation will be.

Woodland Dist. 50 Board of Education voted 6-1 to direct Supt. Dennis Conti to put into place a policy that ends the former practices of free transportation within the boundaries for non-public school students. Schools may apply for rented transportation if they are within two miles of district boundaries. Students will be charged a fee for this service.

"I sense there are some people being upset about the fee. The fee will be announced in the future. People may be pleasantly surprised that it may not be as much as they think it is," Betsy Awni, board member, said.

Both St. Gilberts in Grayslake and St. Patrick in Wadsworth fall into the two-mile limit.

The exact fee amount may be considered at the April 24 Woodland board meeting. —by STEVE PETERSON

Hunt Club leisure rejected

GURNEE—Viewed as too expensive and too large, the Hunt Club Leisure Center proposal was defeated by Gurnee Park Dist. voters.

Park officials will be meeting April 5 to begin discussions on why voters rejected the plan by a 3,306 no vote to 1,545 yes vote margin, a 68 to 31 percent landslide.

Steve Kaplan, park board president, said a second attempt is likely. It could come under the agreement signed with Lake Forest Hospital for a fitness center within the calendar year. The next chance would be in November.

"I'm disappointed, but we will analyze the reasons why people voted against it," Charles Balling, park district director, said.

"I'm surprised it was so one-sided. I was pleased to see the number of voters who turned out. We hope this is the first step to a better plan," Don Rudny, of Citizens for Responsible Government, said the next day. The group opposed the park plan and presented a $6 million smaller swimming pool only alternative.

The site being considered is 46 acres off Hunt Club Road. Rudny said a swimming pool and a neighborhood park site could be supported.

Rudny said the CRG group is willing to work with the park district on any new plan and will support a revised one "if that is what is best for the community." —by STEVE PETERSON

Simpson to be Warren supervisor

WARREN TWP.—The polls were closed for three and one-half hours when Sue Simpson first allowed herself to think in terms of victory.

After a taxing campaign with three other candidates seeking the position of Warren Township supervisor, she performed a seemingly mundane task.

"I did a load of laundry at 10:30 p.m.," Simpson said later Tuesday.

The Sue Simpson era officially begins when she is sworn in on May 1. Unofficial vote totals had Simpson with 1,661 votes to 1,108 for Shawn Depke. Marianne Porreca was third with 1,447 votes and Glenn Ryback fourth with 730 votes.

"It was great to have the support from my family. We talked about it at length - the kids knew there would not be a hot meal on the table. We should take stock in Quaker Oats, with the amount of cereal we ate," Simpson said.

The main points of the Simpson plan included: establishing corporate sponsors to help fund a call youth and check on their well-being program; seeking literacy grant funds and establishing an open space district if voters approve. —by STEVE PETERSON

Amrich easily wins 4th term

ISLAND LAKE—Mayor Charles R. Amrich easily defeated Trustee Beverly Anderson in the race for mayor, winning his fourth-consecutive term.

Amrich led a slate of candidates to victory, defeating Anderson's slate with ease.

In unofficial election results, Amrich ended up with 777 votes from both Lake and McHenry Counties, while Anderson wound up with 589 votes.

Amrich thought the voters appealed to the way his Citizens First party ran its campaign, which he said was above board and positive.

"We have always tried to do positive things for our community and we will continue to do that," Amrich said.

Anderson will end her first term as trustee when the new board is seated next month. The end of an era will also occur at the swearing in session, where Pat Nebgen will step down after 20 years. Replacing her will be Deborah L. Herrmann, who defeated Joan Dunn. Trustee Steven J. Stiller was elected to a third term. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Eschenbauch wins in landslide

WAUCONDA—Mayor James Eschenbauch won a second term as mayor by a wide margin over challenger Mark Mayo, a former Wauconda Unit District 118 school board member.

In unofficial election results, Eschenbauch has 1,104 votes, to challenger Mark Mayo's 754 votes, which gave Eschenbauch nearly 60 percent of the vote, and Mayo 40.58 percent.

"I think the people of Wauconda have spoken," Eschenbauch said. "They sent a message in saying that they believed our campaign literature, and that we can take care of Wauconda and the sewer situation problems we have right now."

Eschenbauch led the charge, as his entire TAG Team party was elected as well. Among them are Trustee John Amrich, who earned a third-consecutive term on the board, and Mary C. Taylor, who was reelected for a second term, Trustee-elect Carl Aronson, who served a two-year trustee term from 1993 to 1995, and Trustee-elect Lorraine C. "Lorrie" Godawa, a former alderman in Rolling Meadows. Before becoming mayor, Eschenbauch was a trustee for 12 years.

Mayo said his slate was disappointed, yet was willing to work with Eschenbauch to work on the sewer problems affecting the village and downstream unincorporated areas. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Krischke crushes Vasels

LAKE ZURICH—Mayor Deborah A. Vasels was ousted from office, losing the mayoral race to Trustee Jim Krischke, who put together a slate that easily defeated all of Vasels' candidates.

Vasels becomes the second consecutive one-term mayor in Lake Zurich, following former Mayor Jim Kay in defeat.

Voters sent a clear message that they were fed up with what they perceived to be a lack of honesty and openness among the current administration, Krischke said.

"I think people were looking for a change in direction," he said. "Now we have to deliver." In unofficial vote totals, Krischke had 1,715 votes to Vasels' 935, defeating her by a margin of 65 percent to 35 percent.

Vasels was a bit disappointed at the outcome, having watched the results from her home with other Citizens Choice party slate members.

"To some degree, this election was made difficult that I made some decisions that I thought were in the best interest of the village, and put me in a position where I was not able to discuss them," she said.

Candidates winning trustee positions were Steve McAvoy, Michael Talbett and Mark Hutton. Trustee Karen Demos-Rosenthal lost a bid for a third-consecutive term, running as an independent. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Election vignette: quiet and costly

Now that the hew and cry of Tuesday's election is over, a surprising fact emerges. There wasn't as much of a hew and cry as there appeared to be.

In 22 of Lake County's municipalities—close to half—the mayoral candidates ran unopposed. In 10 of the county's 18 townships, supervisor candidates ran without opposition. Countless other positions on the ballot were uncontested. Considering the lack of competition, the cost alone of conducting the election resulted in a per vote premium.

Three of the county's highest profile politicians, Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton, and County Board Chairman Robert "Bob" Grever and State Sen. William "Bill" Peterson, running in their dual roles as supervisor of Ela and Vernon townships respectively, got free rides to reelection.

The wide spread lack of competition doubtlessly is an indication of either elector satisfaction, voter apathy, unwillingness to challenge powerful and entrenched incumbents or reluctance to face criticism heaped on elected officials and their families these days. Probably a little of each.

We were taken with the fact that rising taxes wasn't much of a factor in any of the races Lakeland Newspapers followed or at least the link between rising taxes and the cost to individual taxpayers of funding growth and development wasn't an issue. Typically, municipal executives who have been aiding and abetting the growth process, bragged about keeping municipal tax rates down, even where in some cases their local schools are going broke trying to keep up with the new rooftops.

Let's congratulate the losers as well as the winners. They made our campaigns a contest. We have great respect for all the citizens who have the gumption to present themselves to the voting public for consideration as an elected representative.

School fund plan eyed skeptically

There is a cloud of cynicism hanging over a Republican proposal to increase riverboat gambling taxes and use the income to finance a $1 billion school construction and rebuilding program.

Doubt in the sincerity of the proposal comes in light of consideration that lawmakers are under great pressure to create more riverboat casino licenses besides overhaul education funding.

It's no big political leap to see how the two could be tied together. The proposal has special significance in school facility-strapped Lake County where two—or is it three?—riverboat licenses are sought.

House GOP Leader Lee Daniels appears ready—almost eager—to tackle comprehensive school funding reform this year, a non-election year and set the stage for the 1998 gubernatorial campaign.

It wouldn't be the first time that benefitting education was used as a wedge to expand gambling. Before winning legislative approval, the Illinois Lottery was presented as a school funding mechanism.

In the whole, Daniels is correct in structuring an education reform package to include tougher demands on teachers and students, reestablish a minimum per-student funding level and bring about meaningful property tax relief. It's a shame, though, that increasing gambling's grip on society has to be a lynch pin for increasing educational funding.

Daniels and his long-standing cohort from DuPage County, Senate President James "Pate" Phillip, appear to have drawn a party initiative that will dovetail with a long-standing desire of Senate and House Democrats, a major public works program for Illinois schools. Phillip loves to tweak Democrats about hiking the sales tax on food and drugs for education, which they abhor because of the impact on low-income taxpayers.

But that, too, could come about as both parties compete for the brass ring for helping education—and if neither party has to shoulder the blame alone for the negative fall-out of enhancing gambling.

Once again, Gurnee is being run rough shod over by a band of greedy outsiders looking to get rich, at the residents expense. If it is true that Waukegan wants them, Auto Nations, let them have them. Forget your standard "better Gurnee get the tax revenue than someone else," excuse. That thinking has raised our taxes and hurt our schools.

Auto Nations wants to turn the intersection at Grand and Dilley to seven lanes going this way and seven lanes going that way. Massive sized trucks, loaded with cars, will be making deliveries everyday. What about wear and tear on our streets? 'Pack mules' mock air travel comfort

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

It's always easy to tell the difference between frequent flyers and passengers who aren't used to air travel.

Regulars board an airplane loaded down with at least a car sack over their shoulder and baggage or boxes in each hand. The infrequenters are either empty-handed or carrying a small piece of luggage that fits neatly under their seat.

One of the wonders of the world is the size and quantity of the baggage some people haul aboard an airplane to stuff into an overhead compartment or shove under their seat.

Airlines appear to have given up enforcing carry-on baggage restrictions. Baggage boors are the bane of air travel. First you get banged and buffeted when they stagger down the aisle loaded down like dray horses. Then you get buffeted and banged when they careen from seat to seat to deplane. In between, air travelers endure cramped seating and airline food. Some fun, huh, when you fly!

One airline, Virgin Atlantic, offers comfortable, accelerated check-in for passengers without carry-ons or only one regulation-size piece of hand luggage. We don't know if they offer hard hats for protection from the "pack mules" who board last.

BIKE EVENT—Sunday, May 4 provides an answer for enlivening dull weekends. That's the date of the first annual Prairie Pedal, a day of bicycle riding with a choice of tours ranging from five to 75 miles.

Sponsored by the Liberty Prairie Conservancy, the schedule includes a variety of family events ending with a pasta feast at a restored 1890's barn off Rte. 45 between Mundelein and Grayslake. For the strong-hearted, the tour includes Wauconda Orchards, Volo Bog and Van Patten Woods. The reserve is a 2,500-acre sanctuary bounded by Rtes. 137, 120 and the Des Plaines River. A call to 847-548-5989 will get you information and a registration form.

SEARCHING—Directors of Allendale School, the noted facility for providing care, education and treatment for troubled youth and their families, is conducting a nation-wide search for a new president to replace Kathryn M. Collins, who resigned unexpectedly several weeks ago.

Located at Lake Villa since 1897, Allendale maintains facilities in Waukegan, Benet Lake, McHenry County and Highland Park. A professional staff of approximately 365 provides services for 165 youth with an annual budget exceeding $16 million. Allendale officials are planning a centennial celebration.

WEEKEND FUN—A variety of native American culture will be on display to the public at 10 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, April 5 and 6, at Zion Park Ice Arena, 2400 Dowie Memorial Dr. Billed as a Friendship Pow-Wow, activities will be directed by members of Potawatomi Trails. A nominal fee will be charged for family admission. Potawatomi were the last native Americans to make their home in Lake County. They were removed by the federal government in 1838.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Great-grandma played host to an Easter holiday gathering by taking a place at the dinner table. She was surrounded by seven of 11 of her great-grandchildren. The day was such a success she made plans to have all 11 present in July at an outdoor picnic. At age 92, her thoughts are centered on the little ones growing up safely.

-PARTY LINES- Society becomes increasingly risqué

Campaign gets blast from past

Out of past—Ever the historian, Libertyville Trustee Dean Larson reached back 100 years for copy in his campaign brochure. Larson, a retired high school history teacher and town historian, thought that words written by Robert Copeland about "Libertyville's bright future" in Nov. 1897, were appropriate today. The Copeland farm home fronted on Milwaukee Ave. and gave the name to Copeland Manor Subdivision developed in the 1920s and 30s. Copeland was a speechwriter for President Buchanan, according to Larson.

Welcome—Junior Illinois U.S. Sen. Dick Durbin found the welcome mat out when he ventured recently into Lake County, foreign territory to Durbin on the campaign trail last year and Planet X as far as senior U.S. Sen. Carole Moseley-Braun is concerned. Durbin had mostly Republican escorts, including Sheriff Gary Del Re who found the downstate Democrat affable and an easy conversationalist.

Not solid—Mark Amann, an electrical contractor, offered his resignation from the Round Lake Planning and Zoning Commission as evidence that Mayor Jim Lumber doesn't have a lock on long time citizen support as he portrayed in his reelection campaign. Amann, who quit in protest over village growth policies, is a third generation resident. His father, Delbert, is a former mayor of Round Lake.

A commercial for Buick automobiles asks, "When was the last time you had fun in a car?"

A razor-blade manufacturer says, "For a shave that's as smooth as a baby's ... well, you know ..."

The peddlers of a windshield deicer urge, "Use our product and kiss your ice goodbye."

Have you noticed the trend in advertising to tease us with double entendres? To attract our attention with saucy slogans? Those advertising imps are such rascals.

Richard Simmons' new exercise video is titled, "Dance Your Pants Off."

One hot day last summer I drove past a billboard ballyhooing Sprite, the Coca-Cola company's lemon-lime drink, and suddenly wondered, "Did that sign say what I thought it said?"

I turned around and went back. Sure enough, the message was, "Sprite—more refreshing than a breeze up your shorts."

Sassy, perhaps, but a line likely to be remembered, and one you might repeat to friends, thus serving as an assistant billboard for the Coca-Cola company.

Our society is much less prim and proper than it was a few decades ago. There is a new freedom to use once-taboo language.

Greeting cards, to cite one example, have become much more fun and irreverent. The trick, one card creator says, is to present situations in a way that keeps them risqué without crossing the line to vulgar.

Here are a few I saw around Valentine's Day:

"Cupid shot an arrow in the air and it landed in my leg. Now my leg loves you."

"What a friend! What a looker! What a lover! What a great personality! But enough about me."

"Happy Valentine's Day to the man I like to call Mr. Sex-God. (Anything for a laugh.)"

Country music is another domain that loves to push the envelope of purity. Where else do you find laughable lyrics like these?

THE PFARR CORNER

JERRY PFARR

"She done stomped on my heart and mashed that sucker flat."

"If you want to keep the beer cold, put it next to my ex-wife's heart."

"Don't cry down my back, baby, you might rust my spurs."

The ultimate country song, it has been said, should mention drinking, motherhood and jail. For example, "I was drunk the day my mom got out of prison."

I admit I almost did a double take when I first heard Deana Carter's recent hit, "Did I shave my legs for this?"

Apparently, our collective demeanor began drifting from frumpy to frisky way back in the flapper era. Debonair songwriter Cole Porter noticed some 60 years ago that "in olden days, a glimpse of stocking was looked on as something shocking ... but now, heaven knows, anything goes."

Porter himself tickled us with lyrics like these: "Birds do it, bees do it, even educated fleas do it ... goldfish, in the privacy of bowls, do it ... electric eels, I might add, do it, though it shocks 'em I know ...

Let's do it, let's fall in love."

During World War II a popular ditty went like this: "He's got the cutest little dinghy in the Navy ..."

The drive into Waukegan on Washington Street used to be good for a couple of laughs. At the Ace Radiator shop a sign said, "A great place to take a leak." A little farther down the road was another sign: "Drop your pants at Del-Mar Cleaners." Ace Radiator still has its double-entendre sign, a slogan used by radiator shops around the country.

Electrical companies across the land have latched onto this line: "We do it without shorts."

Some fuddy-duddies may frown on such frolic. A spokesman for the American Conservative Union complained recently, "The cultural norms that so many of us adhere to and value are consistently being attacked through popular culture. Now it's even moving into the advertising realm."

But in a time when so much of our talk has become saturated with obscenities and vulgarities, a little clever or cutesy wordplay is most welcome.

land. Is this going to be the Gurnee Mills of automobiles?

At each plan commission meeting, held at the village hall, the residents, numbering in the hundreds, have voiced strong opposition. As is usual, the plan commission bailed out the incumbent village trustee's by delaying the vote, until after the election. For you who are new to Gurnee, I have lived here eight years, this is Gurnee politics. The delay in voting on this proposal, is gutless and displays how spineless the members of this board are.

Watch now, elections over, Waukegan in play, this Auto Nations plan is a shoe-in for Gurnee. What a joke. I oppose Auto Nations on the grounds, it does not fit in to the suburban atmosphere. But really, Gurnee is on the fast track and if not Auto Nations it will be some other giant that will trample over us for the fast buck. I mean really, what do you residents in opposition expect? After all this is Gurnee.

Build Vernon Hills High

Editor:

Regarding the obvious overcrowding at Libertyville High School, as well as the needed repairs to the Brainerd Building, will someone tell me why Vernon Hills doesn't build their own high school?

We would then have enough room to consolidate all students in the Butler Lake facility and could look into selling/leasing/renting Brainerd without the cost burden of making repairs.

Lately, we've heard about the possible locations for a second Libertyville High School, one of which is in Vernon Hills. We're also hearing about the cost of this venture, $63 million dollars. Isn't Vernon Hills the community that received impact fees from the Greg's Landing builders to help offset the cost to educate more kids? Why aren't they using this money to build their own high school?

Vernon Hills residents don't pay to support their police and fire departments, the income generated by all of their retail businesses takes care of those costs. Perhaps this savings should be directed toward education?

What would we call a second high school there, anyway? Libertyville High School, Vernon Hills Campus? How about just Vernon Hills High, and let that community support their own choices? Continuing to fund the present situation is just throwing good money after bad.

Two neighborhoods in southern Libertyville want the elementary school districts redrawn to move their children from Vernon Hills schools to Libertyville schools, and cite Greg's Landing as a good reason for doing this now. What a surprise. I wouldn't want my kids going to the schools that are going to have to accommodate this huge growth rate, either. That's why I bought a house in District 70 where I could be sure that future building would be limited to the small amount of open space left here.

Editor:

We are being asked to make a decision. Do we want to continue with growth in the industrial lane? The present mayor is for Route 53. The obvious reason is that it offers industrial growth; access to a major tollway.

Our major highways are already congested. The tollway system has stated—"This will not eliminate congestion on these roads." Instead we will see more traffic and major truck traffic.

There is still a great amount of land set aside for industrial zoning. Bringing industry into towns doesn't always increase the revenue. Unfortunately there is a give and take. I have heard that Gurnee taxes are rising. It has been compared to Schaumburg. Will we become the next Elk Grove Village?

Handicapped protected

Editor:

When the Fair Housing Act was passed in 1968, it became illegal to discriminate against people based upon race, gender, religion, or national origin in the sale or rental of property, but people with disabilities were never mentioned. In 1988, the Fair Housing Amendments Act was added to give these same housing rights and protection to people with disabilities.

While there is still discrimination against people based upon their race, religion, etc., people with disabilities are often still not recognized as being a minority group and a protected class. In fact, many times, people with disabilities are not even accepted as "real" people. This type of attitude is often found in statements such as, "They shouldn't try to live in a family building," or "There are places just for them, so why don't they go live there?" A particularly insensitive one is "Wouldn't they be better off with their own kind?" People with disabilities are people, so you are our kind.

Kids can say no

Editor:

It is a pleasure to learn of the successful clean finding in the drug sweep conducted at Round Lake High School and Magee Middle School. Superintendent Mary Davis attributes this to staff and prevention programs, the "zero tolerance policy," prior expelling of 20 students and finally, cooperation from local police forces.

I see missing from this list one key factor: The majority of fine young people attending these schools who chose to simply avoid drugs. I am sure this omission is an oversight; proper credit should be given first to these students

Close to infanticide

Editor:

The Illinois General Assembly is presently considering bills (SB 230, HB 382) to ban partial birth abortion. Although physicians are no more of one mind on the overall question of abortion than is society as a whole, the doctors of the Illinois State Medical Society are united in urging legislators to pass these important bills into law.

We find this procedure in which a fetus is partially delivered out of the birth canal and then killed by puncturing its skull and suctioning out is brain to be particularly offensive. It is not justifiable as a medical procedure; in fact it is much closer to infanticide.

Banning the gruesome partial birth abortion procedure would in no way remove or restrict a woman's reasonable right of choice. Alternative procedures are available to those women facing life or health-threatening complications from their pregnancies. Those alternatives are superior from both a medical and ethical standpoint.

Physicians have always stood up against intrusion on the doctor-patient relationship by the heavy hand of government, no matter how well-meaning. We do this to assure the doctor's right to exercise his or her best medical judgment on behalf of the patient. And we will continue to do so. This bill is not inconsistent with that principle. There is no issue of medical judgment regarding partial birth abortion, because it is "never" medically necessary.

Call your state senator and representative and urge them to support SB 230 and HB 382.

Greatest show on earth about to begin

Prepare to see earth come alive with color from the ground on up as many of the crocus have begun to emerge and with a few more days of 60 degrees the early blooming daffodils and tulips will soon emerge to show us their many colors and shapes.

At the nursery, we've noticed the Juneberry buds beginning to swell, which can only mean a beautiful, white, floriferous ornamental about to show off. This plant begins to look good at 5 feet in height and certain species can grow to 30 to 40 feet high. We tend to design in our plans the Amelanchier canadensis (Shadblow Serviceberry) which spreads by means of sucker growths from the base. Looks great in a natural setting and will take wetter soils. It also offers pleasant yellow and gold fall colorings.

Another great plant is the Amelanchier x grandiflora (Apple Serviceberry) which has even larger flowers than the canadensis; very sweet, edible berries in late June. The fall colorings of this plant are magnificent shades of purple, red and orange. This plant can stand alone as a specimen or in a grouping to form a naturalistic look. We like to design evergreen type ground-covers under, around and even in-between the lower branching of this plant to show off the branching habit of this plant.

Another beautiful, but rarely used ornamental or small tree is the Cercis canadensis (Redbud). I suppose it's not used often due to it's problem with verticillium wilt, however, if transplanted as a young plant (5 to 6 foot clump) with an oversized balled and burlaped transplant, the plant does well.

Another important criteria for this plant is it's location. It will not tolerate wet soils. It prefers well drained, deep soils and the Lake County heavy clay soil may have to be amended with a lot of organic matter to help this plant get established. The Redbud is usually multistemmed in habit with the trunk divided close to the ground. As the plant matures, it's branches gracefully ascend to form a lovely crown. It's reddish-purple flowers emerge all up and down the branches of the plant before the leaves appear. Very effective flowering for up to three weeks. The new growth emerges a reddish-purple in color turning to a dark, lustrous green as they mature. The leaves are broad-ovate in shape and we've measured certain leaves on a plant 6-inches across.

All these great shapes and colors emerging in early to mid April to greet us. This is only the beginning of the greatest show on earth and with the proper combination of plants in your gardens, it can last year-round.—by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect, owner of Mill Creek Nursery, Inc. Annuals add instant color

Have you ever looked at a neighbor's yard in total envy because their garden beds exploded in a rainbow of red, orange, blue, yellow and purple, and yours had all the color of a black and white photo? If that's the case, then the real question is, why?

Creating that palette of color is easy, easier than one might imagine. All it takes is some time, some know-how and a few well-placed annual plants. Here, then, are some suggestions for adding instant color to the yard.

Annuals are flowers that experience their entire life cycle in one growing season. Essentially, they grow, blossom and die, allowing the homeowner to create a new garden every year. Some of the most popular annuals include zinnias, marigolds and rose periwinkles. Zinnias come in a variety of colors, except blue, while marigolds are known for their bright gold appearance. Rose periwinkles bloom in white hue with a flush of pink. Check with a staffer at your local garden center for advice on selecting the plants that will work best together and those that will best handle local weather conditions, such as heat, drought, frost, etc.

The next step is to select a planting site. When doing so, bear in mind that most annuals thrive when planted in a bed that receives full exposure to the sun's rays. Now it's time to prepare the soil. The goal is to have soil that is well drained, full of nutrients and free of weeds. Compacted soil makes it hard for plant roots to spread, while sandy soil doesn't allow enough water to be absorbed. Using a rake, hoe or tiller, turn the soil several times. Mixing in compost will not only add nutrients, but will help loosen compact soil and bind sandy soil. Make sure all weeds are removed from the bed. This can be accomplished by hand or with an herbicide. Once that's done, apply fertilizer according to the directions on the product's package.

Some gardeners appreciate the challenge of growing annuals from seed, but the most ideal approach is to utilize transplants. Why? For one reason, it's easier to envision how the bed will ultimately look when using transplants. Secondly, seeds take time to grow, but transplants appeal to the instant gratification lover in all of us. In advance of actually putting plants into the ground, some gardeners draw a picture of the beds as they intend it to look. They then use the drawing as a guide, almost as one would rely on a map to get from point A to point B.

When shopping for transplants, seek those with rich green leaves and compact growth. Don't give into the temptation to buy annuals that are already flowering. They're the quickest to suffer transplant shock and, because they're blooming, may not last long once planted. Plants whose buds are not yet open are the way to go, as they're less vulnerable to transplant shock, but will grow quickly once in the soil.

Once annuals are in the ground, one of the greatest threats they can face is an onslaught of weeds. A homeowner who hasn't dealt with this problem before it starts could find themselves with ravaged plants and hours wasted in the garden trying to rectify the situation.

All it takes to enjoy a summer of weed-free gardening is a good weed preventer and a few extra minutes spent right after annuals are planted.

It's easy to turn your yard into a work of art. Just think of the garden bed as a canvas and annuals as a selection of colorful paints, and go to it.

Extension program to focus on causes of lawn problems

"Solving Lawn Problems" is the second workshop in a two-part series on lawn care for homeowners. The Lake County Cooperative Extension Service, in collaboration with the Village of Lindenhurst, will conduct this workshop on Thursday, April 10 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Crabgrass, dandelions, moss, thatch, and patch diseases are among the common problems facing home lawns in Lake County. This program focuses on the causes of these types of problems and ways to deal with them. Discussion will include problem identification and underlying causes, along with chemical and nonchemical management options. This program is intended for homeowners with some experience in caring for lawns. Turf specialists, Bruce Spangenberg will be the speaker. There is no fee but pre-registration is preferred.

CES is the outreach arm of the University of Illinois. "Our mission is to provide practical and useful information and education that is research-based," indicated Jim Betustak, extension unit leader.

For information or to register, call the Village of Lindenhurst at 356-8252 or cooperative Extension at 223-8627. For information about other CES programs and resources, visit the Internet site at www.aces.uiuc.edu/~uplink/. On the Internet, there is a series of 26 lawn care fact sheets available written by Bruce Spangenberg.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20
Spring has given you the urge to clean house when it comes to work. However, don't let your temper get the best of you this week. Remain calm, and think about what's best for your future before making any rash decisions. Seek advice from a close friend or relative if you're not sure of what to do.

Taurus - April 21/May 21
Don't go against your nature this week. A loved one helps you realize what you want when it comes to your personal life. So, go out and get it. Don't let others stand in your way. However, when it comes to work, it's best to hold back your opinions until you know the whole story.

Gemini - May 22/June 21
Your ability to think fast on your feet will come in handy during a social outing this week. Don't let a surprise throw you off guard. Work will keep you busy during the beginning of the week, so you must focus on the task at hand. Your efforts won't go unnoticed. A bonus is on the way.

Cancer - June 22/July 22
A family situation will put you to the test this week. Don't let your emotions get the best of you. Stay strong, and use your sense of humor to keep loved ones calm. You'll be riding high when it comes to romance. An evening with a good friend will turn out to be much more.

Leo - July 23/August 23
Your pride may get you into trouble with a co-worker this week. Don't make the situation worse by trying to take control. In your personal life, romantic efforts finally will pay off. That special someone will show you that he or she really cares. Don't rush in too fast. Take your time.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22
You'll have to fight your fear of crowds this week as a meeting at work puts you in the spotlight. Your organization and perfectionism will pull you through with flying colors — and a lot of praise. Don't be too hard on yourself after a fight with a loved one.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23
Your ability to be a good listener will be needed this week as a close friend goes through a rough time. Your pleasant nature will help get him or her back on track. Don't let a quarrel with your special someone get you down. Your good nature will bring him or her around and make everything OK.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22
Your determination puts you in line for top honors in the workplace. The higher-ups finally recognize all the time and effort you put in. Don't be shy when it comes to romance this week. Even though it's against your nature, let your feelings be known. They'll be reciprocated.

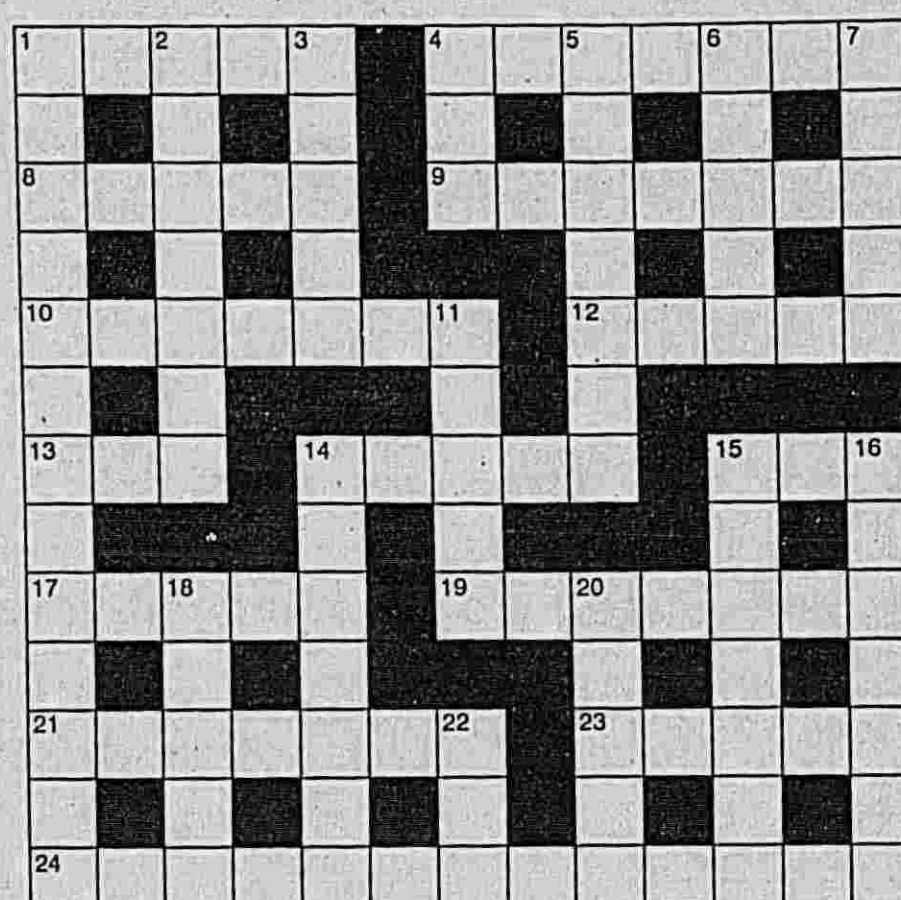

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21
Your happy, gregarious nature will be challenged this week as loved ones share a family secret. The news may come as a surprise, but don't let your temper flare. Take it in stride. Your optimism pays off when it comes to romance. That special someone finally will make a move.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20
Now is your chance to get ahead at work. Your boss offers you the opportunity to take a commanding role in the company, and you're up to the challenge. Don't let your stubborn side take control when it comes to friends. You're sure to have a good time, even though you didn't make the plans.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18
Your sense of realism does well for you in all areas of your life this week. You won't overreact to a surprise at work, making you a pillar of strength for your co-workers. As for your love life, it's time to take the next step in a relationship. Think about it.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20
Your wisdom will draw your supervisor to you for advice during the beginning of the week. Even though he or she respects your opinion, you must remember that you still are the employee. Your satiric nature wins praise from your loved ones and attracts new friends.

Taylor offers 10 marketing basics—follow the money

According to Greek legend, King Midas has the power to turn everything he touched into gold. If you want to grow your business you may find that marketing is your "Midas touch."

I believe that success in any venture is the long-term result of doing simple things well. Since marketing is a critical element of business success, you must understand the basics and do them well. The following questions will help you understand where money comes from and how to keep it flowing into your business.

10 marketing questions

1. Where does cash come from?

The source of cash—sales, revenues, income—is your customers. Once you know the source, you should focus on keeping the source from drying up. Therefore, the next nine questions will guide you toward serving your customers more effectively.

2. Who are my customers? If you're in an existing business you have at least six types of customers. These include current, potential, former, most-profitable, somewhat-profitable and unprofitable customers. The key to know which customers are helping you achieve your business goals.

3. How can I define (describe) them? There are two main ways to categorize customers: demographic and psychographic. Demographics include age, gender, income levels, education, location, etc. Psychographic factors include attitudes, lifestyles, preferences, prejudices, etc. Knowing your customers' characteristics will help you find ways to serve them better.

4. What are my customers thinking?

There are four sub-questions you need to ask: What are they thinking about our products and services? What are they thinking about our business practices? How do they feel about our employees? How do they feel about me?

5. Where are they? This question is aimed at pinpointing the exact location of your customer base. Most important is the geographic location of your best customers. These are the ones who spend the most with you and generate the most profit for your firm. This information is critical in answering question six.

6. How can I reach my customers effectively and efficiently? How can we deliver a strong marketing message for the lowest possible cost? What media and methods will serve us best? We can use newspapers, radio, TV, direct mail, yellow pages, billboards, etc. What message do we want to send? What format will we use to drive the desired message home? See question eight for more on the message.

7. What are our customers buying? First, what are they buying from you? You can get this information from your sales. See MARKETING page C10

RE/MAX retains top spot

The RE/MAX of Northern Illinois network remained the market-share leader in the Lake County market during 1996, according to data supplied by the Multiple Listing Service of Northern Illinois (MLSNI).

Of the 7,516 homes sold in Lake County during 1996, RE/MAX listed and sold 26.56 percent, reports the MLSNI. In 1995, 7,198 homes were sold in the same area with RE/MAX accounting for 24.3 percent of sold listings.

"As Lake County continues to grow, so does the number of homes sold there each year. The fact that RE/MAX continues to increase its leading share of that market is a tribute to the quality of the RE/MAX sales associates and management in our offices serving the area," notes Betty Hegner, president and co-founder of RE/MAX of Northern Illinois.

The top five real estate organizations in Lake County during 1996, in terms of sold listings, were RE/MAX with 1,996 sold listings, Century 21 with 1,494, Prudential with 849, Coldwell Banker with 753 and Koenig and Strey with 500. Data available through the MLSNI may not reflect all real estate activity in a specific market area.

'Talking House' technology sells self

GLORIA DAVIS
Staff Reporter

Everyone has heard of the famous talking horse, and "My Mother the Car" had hoods gyrating and cars turned pitch man. Disney Studios have brought us talking everything, from a princess, to a witch, to a beast, to a mouthy candelabra, a singing tea cup and a talking-dancing cupboard.

In the real world, or real estate world, when talking involves a house for sale, Talking House technology makes the buyer's task easier, by giving vital information immediately to every drive-by prospect.

The sign in front of a house that is part of the "Talking House" program says "Talking House—Tune your car radio to 1610 for information."

The Talking House is actually a mini radio station sitting in the home. It transmits a minute-and-one-half message over and over, to any car radio that tunes in. No special license is needed, and it won't interfere with TV or other radio reception.

This little bit of show business has helped to sell many homes using the program.

For serious potential house sellers, or potential house buyers, it certainly is not too much trouble to stop and tune your car radio.

Larry Kuhn of Century 21 Market Place, Ltd., in Mundelein, says finding a home just got that much easier since the advent of the Talking House program, because "Talking houses have lots to say."

Home buyers say that their No.1 source of information about houses for sale comes from driving around and keeping eyes peeled for that For Sale sign.

Kuhn adds that people want and need immediate information.

For example, "Hello, I'm the Talking House at 195 N. Main St. in Mundelein. I have four bedrooms and two full baths. I am a bi-level style home with a two-car garage attached. A beautiful view is just one of my special features."

For the locations of other Talking Houses and more information, contact Larry Kuhn of Century 21 Market Place, LTD. in Mundelein at (708)949-7100.

Or, contact Scott C. Matthew at Realty Electronics, Inc. at 195 N. Main St. in Fond du Lac, WI-54935, or call 1-800-444-8255 or fax - 414-923-6222.

Restore 'Broken treasures' to original beauty

A unique service providing repair of chipped, broken or discolored glassware, fine crystal, china, ceramics, figurines, and lamps will be available at Mail Boxes Etc., 529 W. Liberty St., Wauconda.

"Many people are throwing away valuable family heirlooms and collectibles because they don't know they can be repaired and still retain considerable value," says David Jasper, owner and operator of D&J Glass and Art Clinic. Jasper represents four generations of experience in glassware restoration which traces back to his family's German origin.

D&J Glass and Art Clinic is the only one of its kind in this country offering repair of such a wide variety of glass items and art objects. "It's a lost art from another country," says Jasper. "One of our chief concerns is that the finished piece retain as much of its original appearance as possible."

Besides repair of ceramics, china and pottery, the clinic also cleans and repairs oil paintings, frames, and antique dolls. Gold and silver replating and metal repair services also are available. Even missing parts on figurines can be rebuilt and replaced.

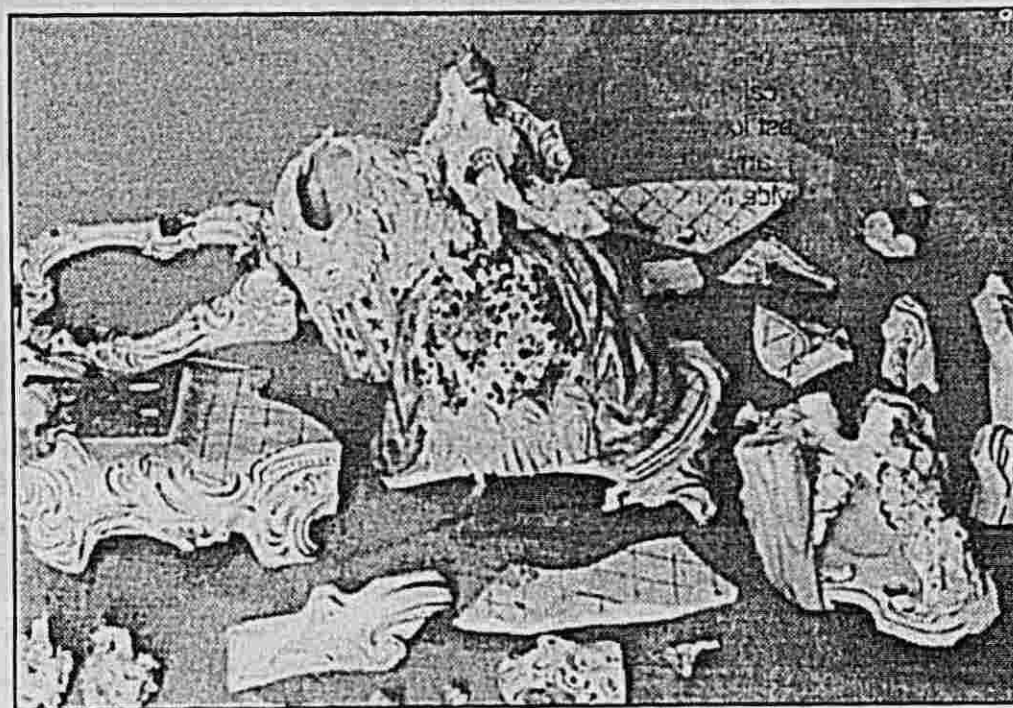

People from all over the U.S. and Canada ship their broken pieces to the clinic. Sometimes the item shipped has missing pieces and it's up to the clinic to fill-in the gaps.

"While an item can never be made new again," explains

Jasper, "it's beauty and worth can be restored. After all, it's of no value to anyone if broken."

Ted Kennedy, Jr. speaks at Barat

Kennedy

Ted Kennedy, Jr. will be giving a lecture on "Facing Life's Challenges" Wednesday, April 9, at 7:30 p.m. at Barat College.

Kennedy lost one of his legs to bone cancer 23 years ago, when he was 12 years old. As an adult, Kennedy has spoken widely throughout the world about his experiences with cancer and his views on approaching life with a disabling condition.

He stresses the need to dispel when he calls the "myth of disability."

"We've been conditioned as a society to see a disability as a terrible thing," Kennedy observes. "I thought when I lost my leg, that was it, I might as well be dead."

In addition to highlighting his personal triumphs, Kennedy's presentation will demonstrate how civil rights policies for the disabled affect everyone.

The lecture, sponsored by the College's Cultural Events Committee, will be given in Barat's Drake Theater. There is a $10 admission charge. Half of the proceeds will benefit Access Living. For tickets, call 295-2620.

Roaring good time

More than 300 people attended Holy Family Medical Center's Capone and Caviar Gala at the Rosemont Convention Center. The event, sponsored by the Medical Center's Women's Board, raised over $100,000 earmarked for a new community service program called New Beginnings, providing health care and assistance to single pregnant women and their newborns. In keeping with the evening's festivities, Debbie Mattana of Libertyville, women's board president and co-chair of the gala; and Cathie Lauth of Riverwoods, gala invitation chair enjoy showing all a few Charleston dance steps.

Community banking strong

LAKE COUNTY—The Community Bankers Assn. of Illinois has scheduled its fifth annual "Illinois Community Banking Week" for April 13 through 19. The purpose of Community Banking Week is to highlight the importance of community banks to their respective local economies. "Community banking continues to be a strong force in Illinois," said CBAI President Paul A. Pogue, president of North Adams State Bank of Ursa and Bank of Warrensburg. "We're proud of our positive impact on Illinois small businesses and the communities we serve, in addition to our customers. With advances in banking technology, community banks can offer cutting-edge services that allow us to remain competitive and relevant," Pogue added. CBAI, which represents 500 Illinois commercial banks and thrifts, is headquartered in Springfield.

Outback Steakhouse raises $4,400

GURNEE—Over 400 people enjoyed a "Walk-About" at the new Outback Steakhouse, 5652 Northridge Dr. in Gurnee when they joined in the national restaurant chain's Charity Night grand opening fundraiser benefiting LaCASA (Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault). The evening raised more than $4,400 to support LaCASA's children's programs at their new facility under construction on Old Grand Avenue in Gurnee.

CLC board approves lease agreement

The College of Lake County board of trustees took the first step toward establishing a state employment and training center at the Grayslake campus by authorizing the administration to finalize the lease to the State of Illinois Dept. of Employment Security (IDES) and begin the planning and design phase for the construction of a building.

The center will house services provided by the IDES, the Private Industry Council of Lake County and the County of Lake. Pending approval by the participating agencies and their boards, it is proposed that the facility will be constructed on the college's Grayslake campus and will provide 20,000 square feet of space for rental purpose. Construction is expected to be completed in approximately one year at an estimated cost of $2 million.

In other action, the board approved a $3.48 million bond sale at the first installment of a planned $7 million sale of limited tax bonds to cover the cost of early retirement incentives and technology acquisition. The board adopted a resolution of intent to issue limited tax bonds at its January meeting and held a public hearing on the proposal at the February meeting.

In her report to the board, CLC President Gretchen Naff announced that CLC graduate Ronnie L. Rice (Waukegan) was selected as the winner of the college's 1997 Pacesetter Award and presented him with a recognition plaque. Rice will become CLC's nominee for the statewide Pacesetter Award competition sponsored by the Illinois Community College Trustees Assn. (ICCTA) in celebration of National Community College Month in April.

The Pacesetter Award program recognizes the accomplishments of Illinois community college alumni who have graduated since 1990 and demonstrated, in the short period of time since graduation, the value of a community college education. A 1995 CLC graduate, Rice attended Southern Illinois Univ. where he received a bachelor of science degree in workforce education and development. He is an employee training specialist at Abbott Laboratories in Abbott Park.

Rice also is active in the community as a motivational speaker, writer and member of several professional organizations. He has developed an educational program titled "Rites to Passage" for young African-American males that will be offered by the Waukegan Park Dist. this year, and the People's Voice newspaper has named him "one of the most influential African Americans in Lake County."

President Naff also announced the selection of Eleanor Taylor Bland (Waukegan), a CLC graduate and well-known mystery writer, as the speaker of this year's commencement on May 17. In addition to this distinction, Bland will also receive the college's 1997 Outstanding Illinois Citizen Award.

Bland graduated with honors from CLC in 1981, receiving an associate's degree in business and accounting. She attended Southern Illinois Univ., where she earned a bachelor's degree in occupational education. An employee in the cost accounting department at Abbott Laboratories, she also is the author of five mystery novels.

In other action, the board accepted a $30,000 grant from the Illinois Board of Higher Education to conduct a hands-on physical science education program for Lake County teachers. The program, scheduled to begin in June, will be directed by CLC physics instructor Toby Ward. The program will introduce 30 fifth-through-tenth grade teachers to more than 150 physics demonstrations they can use in their classrooms to stimulate student interest in science. Awarded for the fifth consecutive year, the Dwight D. Eisenhower Grant has provided funding to offer the education program to more than 100 teachers since 1993.

In other business, the board approved Coopers and Lybrand as the college's auditors for fiscal years 1997 through 1999.

In purchasing, the board approved almost $52,000 in bids to replace a hydraulic lift and purchase of tools for the automotive technology program, and accepted a bid from MK Industries, Inc. of Mundelein, for $242,400 to install heating, ventilation and air conditioning equipment in the physical education building.

US Cable amnesty ends for cable theft

US Cable of Lake County has ended its theft of cable TV amnesty campaign as of March 31. On April 1, US Cable launched the second phase of its cable TV theft program. The program will consist of the actual investigation of potential cable thieves, with US Cable seeking restitution in civil court for damages and possible filings in criminal court.

US Cable will be seeking $10,000 in restitution from all cable thieves found after the amnesty program ends.

"Our amnesty program has been a tremendous success," said US Cable general manager Paul Ashley, "and we hope that all customers that have illegal equipment turned it in before the program ended on March 31."

Since beginning the program on March 1, over 30 phone calls per day have been placed to the US Cable hot line number, a number of "black boxes" have been turned in and there has been an unusually high number sales through customer service for this time of year.

Ashley said, "In fairness to all of customers, we wish to make it well known that we currently have over 100 names and addresses of cable thieves."

If those individuals have not turned in their equipment, we will investigate them with the cooperation of the Lake County State's Attorney's office and local police departments. Where appropriate, we will seek restitution to the full extent of the law and may file criminal charges against those individuals."

US Cable serves over 68,000 customers in 17 communities throughout Lake County. Each year the company loses approximately $4 million dollars to cable theft with an estimate of almost $200 thousand in lost revenues to local units of governments.

Ashley added, "I wish to thank all of our loyal customers for the support they have expressed to us throughout this campaign."

CLC offers seminar on preparing business plan

"How to Prepare a Business Plan" will be discussed at a half-day workshop at the College of Lake County from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on April 19 in C003 at the Grayslake campus.

Sponsored by the CLC Small Business Development Center (SBDC), the program will be presented by Linda Jörn, director of the CLC SBDC; Judd Healy, manager of planning and economics for a major international oil company; Maurice Nagle, president and CEO of the Caribbean division of an international shoe manufacturing company; and representatives from the Service Corp of Retired Executives.

The workshop is offered in cooperation with the U.S. Small Business Administration and the Illinois Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs.

The cost is $30 per person. To register, call 223-3633 or fax to 223-9371.

Marketing

From C9 records. Second, what are they buying from others? Here we're looking for general patterns and trends in your industry.

8. What can I offer my customers that they can't get from anyone else? This is your position. The future strength of your business depends on this point. The only advantage you have in the marketplace is what you offer your customers that on one else can. You may offer better pricing, higher quality products, faster service and follow-up, better work or quicker response. These advantages become the cornerstones on which you build your promotional message.

9. What are they likely to be looking for next? Anticipating your customers' future needs will help you position your business for success. You can get a jump on this by talking candidly with your customers, analyzing future trends and studying tomorrow's needs and wants.

10. Which products or services from question nine would be natural blends with, or extensions of your current offerings? This is your future market direction. Finally, items that work well with your current mix will help you keep a leg up on the competition. Tomorrow's profitable decisions will depend on the answers to the questions you ask today.

Taxable incomes to consider when filing 1996 return

Most people know that wages from a job are part of their income, and if they have enough, they will have to pay taxes on them. But what about profits from hobbies, interest, dividends or unemployment compensation? They are also part of gross income — the same as wages and any other income that's not specifically excluded by law. All gross income is added together to find out if one owes tax and how much. Here are some other examples to consider when filing the 1996 income tax return.

Awards, prizes and other winnings

Awards, prizes from contests or drawings, gambling or other cash winnings are taxable income. Trips, cars and other non-cash prizes are included in income at their fair market value.

Tips are income, too

Tips are taxable income and must be reported as wages on the tax return. This includes the value of noncash tips, like passes, tickets, goods or services. Employees must give a written report to their employers each month they get tips of $20 or more.

Pay taxes on odd jobs, too

People who make $400 or more working for themselves or doing jobs on the side will probably owe self-employment tax. This is a Social Security and Medicare tax for people who work for themselves. They will need to file Form 1040 as well as Schedule SE.

Canceled debt is income

If a financial institution, credit union or government agency cancels or forgives a debt of $600 or more, the person who owed the money will get Form 1099-C showing the amount. This form is also sent to the IRS. The canceled amount is income and must be reported on the tax return.

Everyone's income is taxable

Anyone who earns or receives income from sources in the United States needs to determine if they must file a tax return. This applies to everyone, not just U.S. citizens or residents.

Foreign Income

U.S. citizens or residents who receive income from outside the United States must report all of it on the tax return unless all or part of it is exempt by U.S. law.

Don't let savings bonds be confusing

Bonds are pretty simple investments. People buy them to earn interest on their money. But would you believe that thousands of investors own savings bonds that pay no interest? More than $2.3 billion of U.S. government savings bonds have passed final maturity and are resting in safe deposit boxes, buried in cans or hidden in mattresses — all earning no interest.

How do you know if your savings bond is earning interest? All U.S. savings bonds more than 40 years old have stopped earning interest, and all savings bonds issued after November 1965 stop earning interest 30 years from the issue date.

According to Daniel Pederson, author of the book "Comprehensive Guide for Bond Owners," the reason that many investors allow their savings bonds to mature without being redeemed is simply confusion. "These savings bonds, unlike most bonds, have three separate maturities," he explained.

To understand maturities, you first must understand how savings bonds earn interest. Series E and EE savings bonds don't pay interest in cash. Their earnings accrue internally and are paid to you, along with your principal, when you redeem them. This interest is not taxable until taken; however, because interest is not paid until maturity, savings bonds are not suitable for current income needs.

Now, about the three separate maturities: The first maturity is the original maturity. This is the stated term. Savings bonds pay a guaranteed rate until this date. Some of the largest issues of Series EE savings bonds were issued between 1984 and 1986, and many of those paid a guaranteed 7.5 percent interest rate. By comparison, today's savings bonds guarantee 4 percent interest.

Savings bonds may be redeemed at many banks or through the Federal Reserve. (Brokerage firms do not deal in savings bonds.) If you redeem a savings bond before original maturity, the interest rate will not be guaranteed. If you redeem it at original maturity, you will receive your original principal plus all accrued interest at the guarantee rate. That amount should be the face value of the savings bond.

If you don't redeem your certificates at their original maturity, they continue to earn interest until an extended maturity. After original maturity, however, the rate is no longer guaranteed and will most likely change. Usually, maturities are extended in 10-year increments until the final maturity. Your savings bond no longer earns interest after this date, but the government will continue to hold your investment, paying no interest, until you redeem it. And no one reminds you about it. That's the "confusion" that accounts for the more than $2.3 billion in unredeemed savings bonds.

How do you know when your savings bond's maturity dates are? Each issue of savings bonds has unique maturities and interest rates. Before purchasing any savings bond, get the facts in writing; don't settle for verbal explanations.

Pederson also advises investors to be diligent when redeeming savings bonds. "Be systematic on which savings bonds you cash and when," he said. Redeeming a savings bond at the wrong time can cause you to lose up to six months of interest. And often, the older Series E savings bonds are out of sync — their interest credits are not necessarily semiannual based on their issue date.

Forest board applies for grant for trail project

At their meeting, the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners approved a resolution to file and, if granted, accept a $200,000 Illinois Bicycle Path Grant from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources (IDNR) for the Des Plaines River (DPR) Trail.

The IDNR Bicycle Path Grant program is part of ongoing efforts to enhance outdoor recreation and bike trail opportunities statewide. If the Forest Preserve District receives the grant, it would be used to help fund construction of 1.28 miles of the multi-use DPR Trail from Buckley Road (Rte. 173) north to River Road near Libertyville, along with a bridge crossing over the Des Plaines River, fencing and trail signage.

This section of the DPR trail will travel north through Independence Grove Forest Preserve and will link with the Preserve's interior trails. The IDNR grant would help offset project costs and would be matched with Forest Preserve funds.

The 6,957-acre Des Plaines River Greenway, a chain of Forest Preserves that stretches from the Illinois-Wisconsin state line to Cook County, preserves 80 percent of the river's banks and includes a 10-mile northern section and 12-mile southern section of the multi-purpose DPR Trail.

The southern section of the DPR Trail currently runs 12 miles from Buckley Road (Rte. 173) south through Old School, MacArthur Woods, Wrights Woods and Half Day Forest Preserves. The trail currently ends at Half Day Road (Rte. 22).

The northern section of the DPR trail currently runs 10 miles south from Russell Road through Van Patten Woods, Wadsworth Savanna, the Wetlands Demonstration Project, and Gurnee Woods Forest Preserves. The trail currently ends at Grand Avenue (Rte. 132).

When the DPR Trail is complete, bridges and underpasses will allow users to wind their way, non-stop for 33 miles through some of Lake County's prime natural areas.

A free copy of the Forest Preserve's "Map and Guide" which indicates where Forest Preserve trails are located throughout the county, and a packet of "Trail Maps" featuring eight individual Forest Preserves, including the DPR Trail, is available by calling 367-6640.

'There Is Still The Epilogue'

*How thin the veil between our loves,
Between the lonely here, and there..*

The meeting place for relatives

Who show, in subtle ways, they care:

By thoughts implanted in our days,

A mental nudge for plans to make,

A soothing, well-remembered touch,

With loving care for roads we take..

We may have parts in slight charades,

Perhaps in chorused melodies.

Our lines might number just a few,

Or take the lead in tragedies.

Then at the ending of the play,

The curtain falls without a sound..

But there is still the Epilogue

As loved ones meet; to draw around

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,

I have been 16 years with the same company in the capacity of staff accountant approximately 3 weeks ago the president of the company announced that he was selling the company and that the staff in my department was to be phased out by November 1 of this year. I obviously am in need of other employment and therefore have been sending my resumes out and interviewing whenever possible. My salary at this time is $47,000 and I have become used to living a comfortable lifestyle. I am now finding that I am having difficulty finding a position that come close to my salary. I have run across companies that deal in the same type of business as I am knowledgeable of figuring I could basically walk right in and have no problems, but these positions are offering starting salaries which are substantially less than I am currently used to. The most recent interview I went on was for a competitor of the company I am with now, only to find that after the second interview the salary range was offering in the high 20's to low 30's. I should further mention that although I have 16 years with this company and 3 years of college in my field of accounting, I am non-degreed. I believe I can run circles around any graduate or advanced degreed individual for that matter. I am sure that this is why my salary is going to be a problem. What do you think I can do to convince these employers that I know my stuff? H.S.—Libertyville

Dear H.S.,

Realize that you have been 16 years with the same company whereby you have over the years, received merit increases as well as cost of living increases. This is important to recognize because one can quickly place themselves out of the market after all that time. The average person does not stay in a position nearly that long. Keep in mind that although you believe in yourself and your employer obviously has for all these years does not mean that everyone you interview with will stand up and take notice to more than your longevity. So much goes in to the hiring process these days. Corporations have strong criteria especially in high end accounting positions. In an accounting position where you want to command a higher salary and title recognition, degrees are almost always expected especially where your $47,000 salary is concerned. Your lack of degree may well be the reason that the owners of the company are not asking you to stay on. Many companies have a "degree necessary" indicator in the job descriptions. My advice is to either set your sights on finishing up your undergraduate studies with the hope that this will help you get ahead, or if this is not even an option for you (for some it is not), then you may start thinking of lowering your salary expectations until you land that golden company that will once again bring you up to the salary ranks to which you have grown accustomed. They're out there! Good Luck

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.

DO YOU WORK?
Then why don't you own a home???

Many hard working people think they can't buy a home because of the type of work they do, or because of credit or savings issues. Today's buyers have options!

Ask The Vet

Ask the vet-Dr. David Trask is part of a group of northern Lake County veterinarians who pooled their money and expertise to start All Creatures Emergency Hospital in Grayslake providing emergency care to pets nights, weekends and holidays. During the day he can be reached at Lindenhurst Animal Hospital.

PET PARADE

Q. What is the average size of litter for dogs? cats? What problems can occur during labor, when do we need to call a vet, or should the animal be checked during it's pregnancy?

A. Litter size can vary greatly on breed, age and the number of litters a pet has had. We do recommend that your pet get examined by a veterinarian before breeding. We need to discuss nutrition changes you need to make before the heat cycle occurs. I suggest another physical and possibly a vaginal smear at the time of breeding to make sure breeding is timed correctly. This is also the time we would test breeding dogs for Brucellosis. At 45 days post-breeding most DVMs would like to examine dogs or cats to see if fetuses are present in the uterus. Sometimes a radiograph is needed at the time of this exam to see how many fetuses to expect so you know when whelping has finished later. I like to show my clients a videotape about whelping (if they have never been through whelping before on their own) during this visit. Whelping usually occurs from 61-66 days after breeding. Most DVMs prefer to see the new mother and babies within 24 hours of whelping. An animal doctor needs to check for cleft palates, hernias, incomplete closure of the skull, or other birth defects; the mother may need an oxytocin injection to help the uterus push out any waste and help the milk flow.

Q. How do I get my gray amazon parrot from swearing? He just started doing this.

A. Your parrot is mocking what he hears in his environment. Keep your pet's environment free of this language and your pet will be unable to repeat it. Since the pet has already picked up on this, now you need to teach him new words to concentrate on so that they will be of interest to him to repeat. Give him attention and a treat when he repeats good words, and ignore and cover him when he uses bad words!

The Animals Are Crying

"LEE-ANN"

"LEE-ANN" is a female black and tan mostly doberman mix. Just 18 months old, this wonderful girl has her whole life ahead of her and she wants to spend it with a loving family. Lee-Ann is a sturdy built, medium size dog. She is puppy-playful, active and adores attention. Lee-Ann is also very affectionate and interacts well with other dogs. Lee-Ann is very responsive and she is a smart dog who will train easily. Doberman are special dogs possessing a loyal nature. They make an outstanding companion animal. Lee-Ann has been at the shelter since November 1995. And she needs what all dogs need: patience, training and love-especially love. Please stop by Orphans and see Lee-Ann. Take her out for a walk, and then take her home!

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING AND OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY FOR THE FIRST YEAR IF NEEDED.
